Herik, Nico Schrijver, 2013 Few events have influenced our global order as intensely as the events of September 11 2001 At various levels in the past twelve years persistent attempts have been made to address the threat of terrorism yet there is still urgent need for a joint and coherent application of a variety of regulations relating to international criminal justice cooperation the use of force and international human rights law In an important contribution to international discourse Larissa van den Herik and Nico Schrijver examine the relationship between different branches of international law and their applicability to the problem of terrorism and counter terrorism Using a unique combination of academic perspectives practitioners insights and a comprehensive three part approach Counter Terrorism Strategies in a Fragmented International Legal Order offers sound policy recommendations alongside thorough analysis of the state of international law regarding terrorism and provides fresh insights against the backdrop of recent practice Publisher s description Regulatory Counter-Terrorism Nathanael Tilahun Ali, 2018-04-17 Regulatory Counter Terrorism explores an emerging terrain in which the global governance of terrorism is expanding This terrain is that of proactive regulatory governance the management of the day to day activities of individuals and entities in order to pre emptively minimize vulnerability to terrorism Overshadowed by the more publicized dimensions of military and criminal justice responses to terrorism regulatory counter terrorism has grown in size and impact without stirring up as much academic debate Through a critical assessment of international regulatory counter terrorism in three areas financial services the control of arms and dangerous materials and the cross border movement of persons and goods this volume identifies a dynamic trend This is the refashioning of international rule making into a flexible and experimental exercise This volume shows how this transformation is affecting societies across the world in new ways and in the process unravelling settled understandings of international law Furthermore through an in depth analysis of the working processes of UN counter terrorism bodies and the Financial Action Task Force this book illustrates that the monitoring of the global counter terrorism regime is contrary to accepted understanding in the main collaborative and managerial and coercive only peripherally Dynamic rule making and soft monitoring complement each other but this is a reason for concern the softening of international monitoring encourages regulatory adventurism by states in tackling terrorism while the element of self correction in dynamic rule making helps silence the calls for institutionalized mechanisms of accountability This volume will be of great interest to students and scholars of counter terrorism security studies global governance and international law
