Course-Based Undergraduate Research Nancy H. Hensel, 2023-07-03 Co published with the Council on Undergraduate Research Undergraduate research has long been recognized as a high impact practice HIP but has unfortunately been offered only to juniors and seniors and to very few of them often in summer programs This book shows how to engage students in authentic research experiences built into the design of courses in the first two years thus making the experience available to a much greater number of students Research that is embedded in a course especially general education courses addresses the issue of how to expand undergraduate research to all students Research has shown that students who have early experiences in undergraduate research are more likely to pursue further research prior to and after graduation This is also an issue of social justice because it makes the benefits of undergraduate research available to students who must work during the academic year and in the summer It is widely accepted that the skills developed through undergraduate research help prepare students for their future careers The book addresses all aspects of the topic including What are appropriate expectations for research in the first two years How to design appropriate course based research for first and second year students How to mentor a class rather than individual students How students can disseminate the results of their research Possible citizen science projects appropriate for the first and second years Providing additional resources available to support course based research in the first two years Designed for faculty at four year and two year colleges and including examples from the sciences the social sciences and the humanities the strategies and methods described can be adapted to disciplines not specifically mentioned in the book Many faculty are hesitant to engage first and second year students in undergraduate research because they worry students don't know enough to conduct authentic research in their discipline because they worry about the time it will take to develop activities for these students and because they wonder how they can mentor a whole class of students doing research The authors have successfully dealt with these issues and provide examples of how it's done International Conference of the Learning Sciences Barry J. Fishman, Samuel F. O'Connor-Divelbiss, 2013-04-15 The field of the learning sciences is concerned with educational research from the dual perspectives of human cognition and computing technologies and the application of this research in three integrated areas Design Design of learning and teaching environments tools or media including innovative curricula multimedia artificial intelligence telecommunications technologies visualization modeling and design theories and activity structures for supporting learning and teaching Cognition Models of the structures and processes of learning and teaching by which knowledge skills and understanding are developed including the psychological foundations of the field learning in content areas professional learning and the study of learning enabled by tools or social structures Social Context The social organizational and cultural dynamics of learning and teaching across the range of formal and informal settings including schools museums homes families and professional settings Investigations in the learning sciences approach these issues from an interdisciplinary stance combining the traditional disciplines of computer science cognitive science and education This book documents the proceedings of the Fourth International Conference on the Learning Sciences ICLS 2000 which brought together experts from academia industry and education to discuss the application of theoretical and empirical knowledge from learning sciences research to practice in K 12 or higher education corporate training and learning in the home or other informal settings

The Earth Through Time Harold L. Levin, David T. King, Jr., 2016-06-21 The Earth Through Time 11th Edition by Harold L Levin and David T King chronicles the Earth s story from the time the Sun began to radiate its light to the beginning of civilization The goal of The Earth Through Time is to present the history of the Earth and the science behind that history as simply and clearly as possible The authors strived to make the narrative more engaging to convey the unique perspective and value of historical geology and to improve the presentation so as to stimulate interest and enhance the reader s ability to retain essential concepts long after the final exam

Called to Teach Christopher J. Richmann, J. Lenore Wright, 2020-08-04 The call to teach means different things to different people This collection contends however that at the very least faithful work in the teaching vocation involves excellence commitment and community Representing diverse disciplines and institutional perspectives from a Christian research university the contributors present reflections based on personal experience empirical data and theoretical models This wide ranging collection offers insight encouragement and a challenge to teachers in all areas of Christian higher education Building upon the legacy of thoughtful teaching at Baylor University while looking toward the future of higher education this collection is framed for Christians who teach in higher education but who are also committed to research and graduate training
