Dreams Within a Dream Michael Bliss,2000 What we see and what we seem are but a dream a dream within a dream Michael Bliss views Miranda s voice over at the beginning of Picnic at Hanging Rock as so pivotal in explaining the films of Peter Weir that he borrows her words to create the title of his own study of the Australian filmmaker s work Bliss views Weir as an artist whose values are rooted in the realm of the dream of the unconscious Surrealistic in technique Weir avoids the pedestrian assurances of a material realm in favor of an irresolution that while potentially frustrating is nonetheless for him a more truthful representation of what he considers reality For Weir as for Plato Bliss demonstrates empirical reality is nothing more than a shadow of what is real Bliss also considers Weir s heritage Australian cinema Bliss explains is characterized by melodramatic narratives born of a desire to see good and evil portrayed in striking opposition Weir for example dramatizes the contradictory forces of light versus darkness reason versus mystery and rationality versus magic in such films as Picnic at Hanging Rock and The Last Wave This melodramatic emphasis is evident as well in the polarized characterizations in such films as Witness Dead Poets

Society and The Truman Show Bliss also discusses Weir's use of another staple of Australian cinema mateship the celebration of the bond between male companions But by making self knowledge dependent on action involving one's friends Weir gives mateship a new meaning Moreover like other Australian filmmakers Weir emphasizes the starkness of the Australian landscape which functions either as a hazard or a deadly challenge at least until American mythology caused him to see nature in a more positive light Also prominent in Weir's films is an Australian spirit of rebellion coupled with the Aussie ambivalence toward all aspects of British culture To help explain Weir's films Bliss looks to Freud and Jung whom Weir has studied and also to two other prominent purveyors of myth and archetype Northrop Frye and Joseph Campbell Virtually all Weir characters struggle toward a new mode of awareness a psychological awareness based on archetypal truths Many of his films involve archetypal journeys heading through conflict to spiritual unity Weir's quest is to find out what we really know and how we know what we know

Thoughts Timothy McCoole,2024-12-20 Loss is an extremely heavy burden to bear especially if it is the loss of someone who has been by your side for a quarter century This book was written as a means of healing after the loss of my beloved wife and one month later of the man who made me as I am today my dad I have always been a firm believer in the healing power of the written word for both the reader and the writer This manuscript was written as a means of allowing me to heal and with my healing allowing me to assist the four beautiful children my wife gave to me through this ordeal Life loss and love are terms that play an immense role in guiding the direction our lives take I invite you to come along with me to witness how these guided me along the path of my life and to bear witness to the changes my life has undergone Thoughts My Life After My Life came to me on January 1 2019 the morning after my retirement from the world of toil the world I had been occupying for most of my life On that morning my mind opened the windows and doors swept all past stressors out and allowed the fresh air of change to come in I was no longer bound to the clock or the calendar The verses contained within bear witness to this newfound freedom and the changes my life has undergone
