She had been invited by the Directory chief executive, Leda Grumman, to make a presentation to senior colleagues about the reasons for the success of her unit. The reason for her invitation to the meeting was, first, that the systems used for handling new grant applications were well proven and robust, and, secondly, that her operation was well known for consistently meeting, and in many cases exceeding, its targets. Véronique set a day aside to collect some information about the activities of the CEUPU. She first reviewed her monthly management reports. The information system provided an
