The Challenge of Developing Statistical Literacy, Reasoning and Thinking Dani Ben-Zvi, Joan Garfield, 2006-02-23 Research in statistics education is an emerging field with much of the work being published in diverse journals across many disciplines Locating and synthesizing this research is often a challenging task as is connecting the research literature to practical issues of teaching and assessing students This book is unique in that it collects presents and synthesizes cutting edge research on different aspects of statistical reasoning and applies this research to the teaching of statistics to students at all educational levels Unlike other books on how to teach statistics or educational materials to help students learn statistics this book presents the research foundation on which teaching should be based The chapters in this volume are written by the today s leading researchers in statistics education This volume will prove of great value to mathematics and statistics education researchers statistics educators statisticians cognitive psychologists mathematics teachers mathematics and statistics curriculum developers and quantitative literacy experts in education and government

Basic Principles and Techniques of Molecular Quantum Mechanics Ralph E. Christoffersen, 2013-03-08 New textbooks at all levels of chemistry appear with great regularity Some fields like basic biochemistry organic reaction mechanisms and chemical thermodynamics are well represented by many excellent texts and new or revised editions are published sufficiently often to keep up with progress in research However some areas of chemistry especially many of those taught at the graduate level suffer from a real lack of up to date textbooks The most serious needs occur in fields that are rapidly changing Textbooks in these subjects usually have to be written by scientists actually involved in the research which is advancing the field It is not often easy to persuade such individuals to set time aside to help spread the knowledge they have accumulated Our goal in this series is to pinpoint areas of chemistry where recent progress has outpaced what is covered in any available textbooks and then seek out and persuade experts in these fields to produce relatively concise but instructive introductions to their fields These should serve the needs of one semester or one quarter graduate courses in chemistry and biochemistry In some cases the availability of texts in active research areas should help stimulate the creation of new courses New York New York CHARLES R CANTOR Preface This book is not a traditional quantum chemistry textbook Instead it represents a concept that has evolved from teaching graduate courses in quantum chemistry over a number of years and encountering students with diverse backgrounds
