Aboriginal Peoples in Canadian Cities Heather A. Howard, Craig Proulx, 2011-04-12 Since the 1970s Aboriginal people have been more likely to live in Canadian cities than on reserves or in rural areas Aboriginal rural to urban migration and the development of urban Aboriginal communities represent one of the most significant shifts in the histories and cultures of Aboriginal peoples in Canada The essays in Aboriginal Peoples in Canadian Cities Transformations and Continuities are from contributors directly engaged in urban Aboriginal communities they draw on extensive ethnographic research on and by Aboriginal people and their own lived experiences The interdisciplinary studies of urban Aboriginal community and identity collected in this volume offer narratives of unique experiences and aspects of urban Aboriginal life They provide innovative perspectives on cultural transformation and continuity and demonstrate how comparative examinations of the diversity within and across urban Aboriginal experiences contribute to broader understandings of the relationship between Aboriginal peoples and the Canadian state and to theoretical debates about power dynamics in the production of community and in processes of identity formation
