Contagion Film Question:

Diseased Cinema Robert Alpert, Merle Eisenberg, Lee Mordechai, 2023-09-29 Discusses how the depiction of diseases in movies has changed over the last century and what these changes reveal about American culture Examines disease movies as a genre that has emerged over the last century and includes pandemic and zombie films Reveals the changes to the genre's narratives over three broad time periods the beginning of film through the 1980s the 1990s through the mid 2000s and the late 2000s and afterward Investigates the evolution of disease movies through three perspectives historically notable films remakes and franchises Analyses disease movies in the context of the development of American global capitalism and the fragmentation of the social contract Explains the role of disease movie narratives in the American experience of Covid American movies about infectious diseases have reflected and driven dominant cultural narratives during the past century These movies both real pandemics and imagined zombie outbreaks have become wildly popular since the beginning of the 21st century They have shifted from featuring a contained outbreak to an imagined containment of a known disease to a globalized uncontrollable pandemic of an unknown origin Movie narratives have changed from identifying and solving social problems to a despair and acceptance of America's failure to fulfil its historic social contract Movies reflect and drive developments in American capitalism that increasingly advocates for individuals and their families rather than communities and the public good Disease movies today minimize human differences and envisage a utopian new world order to advance the needs of contemporary American capitalism These movie narratives shaped reactions to the outbreak of Covid and reinforced individual responsibility as the solution to end the pandemic

Contagious Metaphor Peta Mitchell, 2013-03-14 The metaphor of contagion pervades critical discourse across the humanities the medical sciences and the social sciences It appears in such terms as social contagion in psychology financial contagion in economics viral marketing in business and even cultural contagion in anthropology In the twenty first century contagion or thought contagion has become a byword for creativity and a fundamental process by which knowledge and ideas are communicated and taken up and resonates with Andr Siegfried's observation that there is a striking parallel between the spreading of germs and the spreading of ideas In Contagious Metaphor Peta Mitchell offers an innovative interdisciplinary study of the metaphor of contagion and its relationship to the workings of language Examining both metaphors of contagion and metaphor as contagion Contagious Metaphor suggests a framework through which the emergence and often epidemic like reproduction of metaphor can be better understood

The Humanities Pandemic Margaret Topping, 2023-07-25 This book explores how the Humanities can play an essential services role in addressing global challenges such as the Covid pandemic In arguing for their contribution alongside that of the Health Sciences it calls for a new critical engagement honest and self reflective from Humanities scholars with the question of how to overcome a fundamental challenge facing universities globally finding a common language and set of cultural assumptions between disciplines as the basis for communication The book looks at the nature of the challenges that can beset collaboration across disciplines and indeed across sectors notably between researchers and the general public and argues for a new Translational Humanities in both the sense of an applied Humanities and a Humanities that can translate itself across disciplines and sectors Crucially too it suggests that it is not narratives such as a pandemic novel or contagion film that successfully engage with contentious debates about the challenges of Covid but rather critically distant texts and thematic contexts that typically place the self in the position of other like travel narratives This book sits at a previously unconsidered intersection between debates around interdisciplinary collaboration and communication theories of intercultural contact and encounter and the role of the Humanities in tackling global issues

Undead Apocalypse Stacey Abbott, 2016-09-08 Explores the intersection of the vampire and zombie with 21st Century dystopian and post apocalyptic cinema Twenty first century film and television is overwhelmed with images of the undead Vampires and zombies have often been seen as oppositional one alluring the other repellant one seductive the other infectious With case studies of films like I Am Legend and 28 Days Later as well as TV programmes like Angel and The Walking Dead this book challenges these popular assumptions and reveals the increasing interconnection of undead genres Exploring how the figure of the vampire has been infused with the language of science disease and apocalypse while the zombie text has increasingly been influenced by the trope of the reluctant vampire Stacey Abbott shows how both archetypes are actually two sides of the same undead coin When considered together they present a dystopian sometimes apocalyptic vision of twenty first century existence Key features Rather than seeing them as separate or oppositional this book explores the intersection and dialogue between the vampire and zombie across film and television Much contemporary scholarship on the vampire focuses on Dark Romance while this book explores the more horror based end of the genre Offers a detailed discussion of the development of zombie television Provides a detailed examination of Richard Matheson's I Am Legend including the novel the script the adaptations and the BBFC's response to Matheson's script

Questions of Third Cinema Jim Pines, 1989 Is there an international film language Are national ethnic and cultural differences in how films are made and understood merely differences of dialect Such questions have been increasingly debated in recent years with the emergence of the idea of a Third Cinema which means not simply the films made by the so called Third World countries but any cinema which offers a radical challenge to entrenched Western notions of what the cinema is In a wide ranging series of essays this book extends the debate about Third Cinema in Britain and the United States as well as in Africa and Asia and offers a provocative analysis of the political problems and aesthetic possibilities of a different kind of film making

Liberation Paul Goodman, 1969

Handbook of Latin American Environmental Aesthetics Jens Andermann, Gabriel Giorgi, Victoria Saramago, 2023-09-05 The Handbook of Latin American Environmental Aesthetics offers a comprehensive overview of Latin American aesthetic and conceptual production addressing the more than human environment at the intersection between art activism and critique Fields include literature performance film and other audiovisual media as well as their interactions with community activisms Scholars who have helped establish environmental approaches in the field as well as emergent critical voices revisit key concepts such as ecocriticism post extractivism and multinaturalism while opening new avenues of dialogue with areas including critical race theory and ethnicity energy humanities queer trans studies and infrastructure studies among others This volume both traces these genealogies and maps out key positions in this increasingly central field of Latin Americanism at the same time as they relate it to the environmental humanities at large By showing how artistic and literary productions illuminate critical zones of environmental thought articulating urgent social and material issues with cultural archives historical approaches and conceptual interventions this volume offers cutting edge critical tools for approaching literature and the arts from new angles that call into question the nature culture boundary
