Cumulated Index Medicus ,1989      Neurobiology of Aggression and Rage Allan Siegel,2004-11-29 While other books concentrate on the different facets of aggression these publications tend to focus on a single aspect of the subject and do not make any attempt to integrate biology and behavior This lack of integration in the literature has created a major gap in our current understanding of the factors that influence aggressive actions      Aggression and Conflict David Levinson,1994 Discusses many forms of aggression including aggression by women banditry blood money cannibalism capital punishment cruelty to animals duels ethnocide foot binding genital mutilation gerontocide head hunting human sacrifice initiation rites rape sibling fighting song duels suicide and wars      Of Mice and Women Kaj Björkqvist,Pirkko Niemelä,1992 This book provides a comprehensive compilation and discussion of research findings on female aggression from antropology social psychology animal research case studies and representation in literature This multidisciplinary approach addresses such questions as are females more aggressive than males is female aggressive behaviour perhaps qualitatively not quantitatively different than male aggressive behaviour The book also examines patterns of aggression the role of hormones in aggression cultural differences and how human aggression differs from aggression within animal species

Psychopharmacology Bulletin ,1991      Bibliography on Smoking and Health ,1991      Biodiversity and Conservation: Causes and consequences of biodiversity loss 1 : development, habitat loss and invasive species Richard J. Ladle,2009 Although biodiversity is a relatively new coinage scientists have been studying the subject it describes long before the word s first appearance in the language in the mid 1980s In 1973 for instance the UK Systematics Association held a symposium on The Changing Flora and Fauna of Britain which concluded that not enough attention was being paid to the conservation of rarities a conclusion also reached said the symposium at a meeting of the Linnaean Society some forty years earlier By 1980 the Global 2000 Report to the President published by the US Council on Environmental Quality starkly warned of a diminution of up to one fifth of all species by the turn of the century and there is now a growing consensus that the world faces a biodiversity crisis a potentially catastrophic global loss of genetic ecosystem and most obviously species diversity Indeed especially since the UN Convention on Biological Diversity was promulgated in Rio de Janeiro in 1992 conserving biodiversity has become the principal focus of the global conservation movement Indeed the study of the origins maintenance and protection of diversity has become perhaps the most vibrant offshoot of ecology and conservation studies It is increasingly taught and studied in universities and other research institutions around the world Addressing the need for an authoritative reference work to make sense of this rapidly growing subject and its ever more complex and multidisciplinary corpus of scholarly literature Biodiversity and Conservation is a new title in the Routledge series Critical Concepts in the Environment Edited by Richard Ladle of Oxford University s Centre for the Environment this new Major Work brings together in five volumes the foundational and the very best cutting edge scholarship to provide a synoptic view of all the key
