Principles

Popular Sovereignty

The power to rule belongs to the people. The people of the nation are the sources of government power. The government can only govern with the consent of the people.

Task: Work with a partner to identify an example of popular sovereignty in the Constitution.

- Article I, Section 1: "All legislative Powers herein granted shall be vested in a Congress of the United States, which shall consist of a Senate and House of Representatives."
- Article II, Section 1: "The executive Power shall be vested in a President of the United States."
- Article III, Section 1: "The judicial Power shall be vested in one Supreme Court, and in such inferior Courts as the Congress may from time to time ordain and establish."
- Amendment I: "Congress shall make no Law respecting an establishment of Religion, or free exercise thereof, or abridging the Freedom of Speech, or of the Press; or the Right of the People peaceably to assemble, and to petition the Government for a redress of their Grievances."

9 out of 13 states had to ratify for the new Constitution to go into effect.

The ratification would be democratic: state citizens would elect conventions to decide whether or not to ratify (all but Rhode Island did this).

Even with all the compromising, large and small states could still not agree.

Leaders split into two factions:

1. the Federalists (pro-ratification)
2. the Anti-Federalists (anti-ratification)
