Stoop,2014 The Consumer Protection Act 68 of 2008 came into effect on 1 April 2011 The purpose of this Act is among other things to promote fairness openness and respectable business practice between the suppliers of goods or services and the consumers of such good and services In consumer protection legislation fairness is usually approached from two directions namely substantive and procedural fairness Measures aimed at procedural fairness address conduct during the bargaining process and generally aim at ensuring transparency Transparency in relation to the terms of a contract relates to whether the terms of the contract terms accessible in clear language well structured and cross referenced with prominence being given to terms that are detrimental to the consumer or because they grant important rights One measure in the Act aimed at addressing procedural fairness is the right to plain and understandable language The consumer's right to being given information in plain and understandable language as it is expressed in section 22 is embedded under the umbrella right of information and disclosure in the Act Section 22 requires that notices documents or visual representations that are required in terms of the Act or other law are to be provided in plain and understandable language as well as in the prescribed form where such a prescription exists In the analysis of the concept plain and understandable language the following aspects are considered in this article the development of plain language measures in Australia and the United Kingdom the structure and purpose of section 22 the documents that must be in plain language the definition of plain language the use of official languages in consumer contracts and plain language guidelines based on the law of the states of Pennsylvania and Connecticut in the United States of America

Does the Consumer Protection Act 68 of 2008 Have the Effect of Reviving the Abolished Exemptio Doli Generalis? Chantal Hester Du Plessis, 2012 The Influence of the Consumer Protection Act 68 of 2008 on the Common Law of Sale Jacolien Barnard, 2013 The Role of the Consumer Protection Act 68 of 2008 in Addressing the Challenges of Healthcare Patients as Consumers Nolwandle Witness Ngcobo, 2023 The Influence of Part G of the Consumer Protection Act 68 of 2008 on the General Principles of Contract Car De Veer, 2015 Autonomous Vehicles and Civil Liability in a Global Perspective Hans Steege, Ilaria Amelia Caggiano, Maria Cristina Gaeta, Benjamin von Bodungen, 2024-04-30 In the automotive sector digitalisation connectivity and automation are rapidly expanding In tomorrow's vehicles human beings will merely be passengers which raises a host of complex legal issues regarding accidents involving self driving vehicles This book is the first to offer a comprehensive global overview of civil liability regimes for all levels of vehicle automation in jurisdictions that represent some of the most important markets for the automotive industry After a technical introduction to how self driving cars work the individual chapters analyse the liability for driving automation at SAE J3016 levels 0 through 5 from a country specific perspective All chapters were written by experts in the field and follow a uniform legal structure Hence the book offers an essential comparative analysis of similarities and differences in the jurisdictions examined while also providing suggestions for future legislative changes at the national and international level The book is not only relevant for legal scholars and practitioners but will also be of particular interest to anyone involved in the design manufacture distribution and operation of self driving vehicles Consumer Protection Act 68 of 2008 and Rules and Regulations South Africa, Juta Law (Firm), Juta's Statutes Editors, 2013 The Applicability of the Consumer Protection Act 68 of 2008 to International Electronic Transactions, 2016 Act Agreement Applicable Cause of action Consumer Electronic European Union International Transactions The Consumer Protection Act 68 of 2008 and

Procedural Fairness in Consumer Contracts Philip N. Stoop, 2016 In general the concept contractual fairness can be narrowed down described and analysed with reference to the two interdependent types of fairness substantive and procedural fairness Measures aimed at procedural fairness in contracts address conduct during the bargaining process and generally aim at ensuring transparency One could say that a contract is procedurally fair where its terms are transparent and do not mislead as to aspects of the goods service price and terms Despite the noble aims of legislative measures aimed at procedural fairness there are certain limits to the efficacy of procedural measures and transparency The special procedural measures which must be considered in terms of the Consumer Protection Act 68 of 2008 in order to decide if a contract is fair are analysed in this article as are other measures contained in the Act which may also increase procedural fairness and are discussed so as to allow suppliers to predict whether their contracts will be procedurally fair or not in terms of the Act The special procedural measures can be categorised under measures requiring disclosure and or mandatory terms and measures addressing bargaining position and choice It is concluded that owing to the nature of all these factors and measures related to procedural fairness it is clear that openness and transparency are required by the CPA
