French, 2010-04-15 In this valuable book ethnographer and anthropologist Brigitte French mobilizes new critical theoretical perspectives in linguistic anthropology applying them to the politically charged context of contemporary Guatemala Beginning with an examination of the nationalist project that has been ongoing since the end of the colonial period French interrogates the Guatemalan indigenous binary In Guatemala Ladino refers to the Spanish speaking minority of the population who are of mixed European usually Spanish and indigenous ancestry Indian is understood to mean the majority of Guatemala's population who speak one of the twenty one languages in the Maya linguistic groups of the country although levels of bilingualism are very high among most Maya communities As French shows the Guatemalan state has actively promoted a racialized essentialized notion of

Indians as an undifferentiated inherently inferior group that has stood stubbornly in the way of national progress unity and development which are implicitly the goals of true Guatemalans that is Ladinos French shows with useful examples how constructions of language and collective identity are in fact strategies undertaken to serve the goals of institutions including the government the military the educational system and the church and social actors including linguists scholars and activists But by incorporating in depth fieldwork with groups that speak Kaqchikel and K'iche' along with analyses of Spanish language discourses Maya Ethnolinguistic Identity also shows how some individuals in urban bilingual Indian communities have disrupted the essentializing projects of multiculturalism And by focusing on ideologies of language the author is able to explicitly link linguistic forms and functions with larger issues of consciousness gender politics social positions and the forging of hegemonic power relations
