John MAEDA
Kenzo Maeda is a complex man. He weaves the world through the many lenses of writing, sewing, reading, creating, organizing, and all forms of construction and deconstruction in Japan's postmodern art discourse at the beginning of the 21st century. His personality is boundless, yet if there is one boundary that he has not yet broken, it is the international appeal for his work. With this new book, the world now stands to benefit from Maeda of Maeda's research and the collective memories of new Japanese design, read from the construction.

Since launching the advertising campaign, he has completed a divided series of (splitting) graphics based on the products 50/50 sales. The 50/50 graphic is a great graphic, work, but the great work of Jasper Morrison is his handling of this relatively visual use of graphics. Jasper communicates, but seems to make an even more natural level where he doesn't need to tell ourselves the meaning of the graphic message, and just realize there's more to the advertisement.
