Destroy, She Said Marguerite Duras, 1970      The Heretical Archive Domietta Torlasco, 2013-03-05 The Heretical Archive examines the relationship between memory and creation in contemporary artworks that use digital technology while appropriating film materials Domietta Torlasco argues that these digital films and multimedia installations radically transform our memory of cinema and our understanding of the archive Indeed such works define a notion of archiving not as the passive preservation of audiovisual signs but as an intervention and the creative rearticulation of cinema's perceptual and political textures Connecting psychoanalysis phenomenology and feminist theory in innovative ways Torlasco analyzes cutting edge digital works that engage with the past of European cinema and visual culture including video installations by Monica Bonvicini Destroy She Said and Pierre Huyghe The Ellipsis Agnès Varda's film The Gleaners and I Marco Poloni's multimedia installation The Desert Room and Chris Marker's CD ROM Immemory Torlasco's central claim is that if the archives of psychoanalysis and cinema have long privileged the lineage that runs from Oedipus to Freud the archives of the digital age what she calls the heretical archive can help us imagine an unruly porous multifaceted legacy one in which marginal figures return to speak of lost life as much as of life that demands to be lived

Marguerite Duras Laure Adler, 2000-12-15 Now available in English the bestseller of France traces the life of one of that country's most prolific yet controversial figures The life of the author of The Lover and The War A Memoir is explored through events central to Duras's career by means of letters unpublished manuscripts and interviews Photos

Decolonization in Postwar France Daniel Just, 2015-02-09 Against the background of intellectual and political debates in France during the 1950s and 1960s Daniel Just examines literary narratives and works of literary criticism arguing that these texts are more politically engaged than they may initially appear As writings by Roland Barthes Maurice Blanchot Albert Camus and Marguerite Duras show seemingly disengaged literary principles such as blankness minimalism silence and indeterminateness can be deployed to a number of potent political and ethical ends At the time the main focus of this activism was the escalation of violence in colonial Algeria The poetics formulated by these writers suggests that blankness weakness and withdrawal from action are not symptoms of impotence and political escapism in the face of historical events but deliberate literary strategies aimed to neutralize the drive to dominate others that characterized the colonial project
