Women in Microbiology Rachel J. Whitaker, Hazel B. Barton, 2018-05-01 Many girls want to become scientists when they grow up just like many boys do But for these girls the struggle to do what they love and to be treated with respect has been much harder because of the discrimination and bias in our society In Women in Microbiology we meet women who despite these obstacles and against tough odds have become scientific leaders and revered mentors The women profiled in this collection range from historic figures like Alice Catherine Evans and Ruth Ella Moore to modern heroes like Michele Swanson and Katrina Forest What binds all of these remarkable women are a passion for their work a zest for life a warm devotion to mentoring others especially younger women and a sense of justice and fairness that they are willing to fight tirelessly to obtain Each story is unique but each woman featured in Women in Microbiology has done so much to expand our knowledge of the natural world while also making it easier for the next generation of scientists to work collaboratively and in an atmosphere where people are judged by their intellect imagination skill and commitment to service regardless of gender or race Women in Microbiology is a wonderful collection of stories that will inspire everyone but especially young women and men who are wondering how to find their way in the working world Some of the names are familiar and some are lesser known but all of the stories arouse a sense of excitement driven by tales of new important scientific insights stories of overcoming adversity and breaking boundaries and the inclusion of personal tips and advice from successful careers These stories are proof that a person can live a balanced and passionate life in science that is rich and rewarding

The African Food Environments Amos Laar, Kaleab Baye, Anna Lartey, Francis Zotor, Gershim Asiki, 2023-09-05 In many respects the continent of Africa is in transition Prominent among them currently is the nutrition transition One consequence of the nutrition transition is the increase in prevalence of nutrition related non communicable diseases NCDs such as obesity type 2 diabetes cardiovascular diseases and certain cancers Although NCDs are a global public health problem the rate of increase in NCDs morbidity and mortality in some African countries is staggering This surge has been linked to modifiable environmental factors factors that facilitate the consumption of obesogenic energy dense nutrient poor foods rather than unrefined cereals fruits and vegetables It has long been recognized that the physical and social environments in which people live work and eat are critical determinants of their health More recently there has been a greater focus on the food environment as a key determinant of health Available evidence shows that unhealthy food environments drive unhealthy diets and unhealthy diet is one of four main risk factors for NCDs
