Sizonqoba! Outliving AIDS in Southern Africa Busani Ngcaweni, 2017-04-11 The aim of this book is to better understand the phenomenon of HIV in a country that has faced the fullest might of the disease and yet after first faltering has made more progress than any other country in the world in its response to HIV It aims to reflect the complexity of this narrative and the range of widely differing insights by featuring what is likely the largest number of contributors in a single publication on the subject in South Africa as well as a full spectrum of specialised areas ranging from high end science to personal reflections

Complexities and challenges in preventive audiology Katijah Khoza-Shangase, 2023-03-01 The success of any preventive healthcare programme is reliant on a functional healthcare system Within this system of care healthcare professionals including audiologists can only practice safely and effectively if they possess an appreciation of the complexities and challenges that exist in that context Where healthcare professionals have such awareness that aids them to recognise opportunities for errors that can cause patients harm and where they take steps to prevent these mistakes is where preventive audiology is positioned This edited book Complexities and Challenges in Preventive Audiology An African Perspective is a sequel to another book by the current editor titled Preventive Audiology An African Perspective While in the process of editing that book the editor identified that a lacuna of contextually relevant collation of evidence on complexities and challenges faced by the field of audiology within the African context in implementing preventive audiology existed The goal of this book is to delve into these complexities and challenges for various key areas in audiology All chapters deliberate on evidence based perspectives grounded in the African context with deliberate and preferential reliance on contemporary locally relevant evidence that allows for accurate reflection of current complexities and challenges in ear and hearing care delivery within the African context Contributors were encouraged to be as comprehensive as possible in their review of the literature within the African context where available Complexities brought about by context such as cultural and linguistic diversity as well as traditional and alternative healthcare on preventive audiology within the South African context are also covered in this book As each chapter explores prevailing complexities and challenges potential solutions and recommendations for all challenges identified are also offered having carefully and deliberately engaged with local evidence local context and local policies and regulations to ensure an Afrocentric contribution to the world of evidence All chapters in the book have a goal of ensuring that increased efforts are directed towards the provision of clinical services that are driven through best practice by contextually relevant and responsive evidence

Lifestyle, Biological Risk Factors for Non-Communicable Diseases in the Midst of Social Inequalities and COVID-19 Kotsedi Monyeki, Andre Pascal Kengne, Benedicta Ngwenchi Nkeh-Chungag, Han C. G. Kemper, 2023-07-31

Climate Change and Human Health Scenarios Rais Akhtar, 2024-01-01 The objective of the present edited book is to encompass studies from both developed and developing countries of Asia Africa Europe and Americas to understand and present a comparative scenario of the climate change and other environmental determinants of health and disease in geographically diversified countries Environment and health perspective dates back to Hippocrates treatise written 400 B C E In his book On Airs Waters and Places Hippocrates described diseases as associated with environmental conditions Whoever wishes to investigate medicine properly should proceed thus in the first place to consider the seasons of the year and what effects each of them produces for they are not at all alike but differ much from themselves in regard to their changes Then the winds the hot and the cold especially such as are common to all countries and then such as are peculiar to each locality We must also consider the qualities of the waters for as they differ from one another in taste and weight so also do they differ much in their qualities In the same manner when one comes into a city to which he is a stranger he ought to consider its situation how it lies as to the winds and the rising of the sun for its influence is not the same whether it lies to the north or the south to the rising or to the setting sun There has been a greater emphasis in the last four decades on understanding environmental factors which affect human health after United Nations established Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change IPCC in 1988 aimed at to evaluate research on changing environmental condition particularly climate change and its impacts on human wellbeing including human health as consequences of extreme heat waves conditions sea level rise forced migration air pollution droughts and wildfires From these studies risk levels of vulnerable populations and regions can be assessed and level of resilience of healthcare infrastructure that may be used in environmental health policy and equity of these countries

Geopolitics in Health Eduardo J. Gómez, 2018 In Geopolitics in Health Eduardo J G mez takes a critical look at how the emerging BRICS economies dealt with the obesity AIDS and tuberculosis epidemics Despite the countries having similar international political and economic ambitions G mez finds that domestic policy responses were driven mainly by international as opposed to domestic pressures and interests Using a theoretical framework called geopolitical positioning Gomez explores how nations respond to international pressures and policy criticisms as well as offers of financial and technical assistance countries then utilize domestic policy innovations and ultimately engage in global health diplomacy in order to bolster their international reputation Publisher description The Promise of New Technologies in an Age of New Health Challenges A.J. Maeder, K. Ho, A. Marcelo, 2016-11-24 There is a changed emphasis in many health services with conventional pressures such as budget and workforce constraints combined with the indirect forces of social change and strategic direction bringing about the need for more flexible approaches for the longer term By enabling different care models and delivery channels telehealth offers demonstrably effective and sustainable solutions for issues such as access to and quality of care This book presents 18 papers delivered at the 5th Global Telehealth Conference held in Auckland New Zealand in November 2016 The theme chosen for Global Telehealth 2016 is The Promise of New Technologies in an Age of New Health Challenges and the papers included here cover a wide variety of topics from theoretical and abstract contributions through to discussions of practical projects and highly specific applied contributions The book also includes two invited papers which detail recent contributions to two global issues in which telehealth plays a major role universal health coverage and personal health monitoring With papers ranging in scope from computer assisted screening technology for diabetic retinopathy to behavior change through computer games this book will be of interest to all those involved in the design and provision of healthcare services

Annual Report Mpumalanga (South Africa). Department of Education, 2015 South Africa Yearbook, 2009

Annual Report South Africa. Department of Public Service & Administration, 2016 Drinking Water Quality and Human Health Patrick Levallois, Cristina Villanueva Belmonte, 2019-04-04 The quality of drinking water is paramount for public health Despite important improvements in the last decades access to safe drinking water is not universal The World Health Organization estimates that almost 10% of the population in the world do not have access to improved drinking water sources Among other diseases waterborne infections cause diarrhea which kills nearly one million people every year mostly children under 5 years of age On the other hand chemical pollution is a concern in high income countries and an increasing problem in low and middle income countries Exposure to chemicals in drinking water may lead to a range of chronic non communicable diseases e.g cancer cardiovascular disease adverse reproductive outcomes and effects on children's health e.g neurodevelopment among other health effects Although drinking water quality is regulated and monitored in many countries increasing knowledge leads to the need for reviewing standards and guidelines on a nearly permanent basis both for regulated and newly identified contaminants Drinking water standards are mostly based on animal toxicity data and more robust epidemiologic studies with accurate exposure assessment are needed The current risk assessment paradigm dealing mostly with one by one chemicals dismisses the potential synergisms or interactions from exposures to mixtures of contaminants particularly at the low exposure range Thus evidence is needed on exposure and health effects of mixtures of contaminants in drinking water Finally water stress and water quality problems are expected to increase in the coming years due to climate change and increasing water demand by population growth and new evidence is needed to design appropriate adaptation policies This Special Issue of International Journal of Environmental Research and Public Health IJERPH focuses on the current state of knowledge on the links between drinking water quality and human health Annual Report South Africa.
