Karen Detlefsen, The Cartesian Brain Denis Kambouchner, Damien Lacroux, Tad M. Schmaltz, Ruidan She, 2024-09-23 This volume presents new research on Cartesian psychophysiology that combines historical and textual analysis with a consideration of recent advances in contemporary neuroscience research It seeks to explain why the Cartesian theory of the brain and its communication with the mind still offer a remarkable model for cognitive studies New research in the philosophy of mind and cognitive science has reignited interest in the role and the structure of the Cartesian brain among scholars of Descartes This volume rethinks Cartesian psychology from the perspective of physiology with the aim of redetermining the contributions of the brain and central nervous system to mental phenomena The first part of the volume concerns the details of Descartes s own physiological account of the brain The discussion covers his treatment not only of the anatomy of the brain but also of the mode of interaction between mind and body in which the pineal gland plays a central role and of the relation between the brain and the rest of the body The second part considers the reception and legacy of the Cartesian brain The focus here is on understanding how Cartesian psychophysiology was received by Descartes s early modern contemporaries and immediate successors as well as on the relevance of the Cartesian brain for contemporary neurophysiology and cognitive science The Cartesian Brain is an essential resource for scholars and advanced students interested in Descartes history of philosophy history of science philosophy of mind and cognitive science The Life Sciences in Early Modern Philosophy Ohad Nachtomy, Justin E. powers or use her diverse intellectual faculties in a manner that is under her own control Building on this structure in part two McLear shows how Kant applies his conception of controlled activity to the various forms of activity of which the rational mind is capable in increasing order of complexity i e attention conception judgment inference and comprehension And in the final section of the book McLear applies this account to longstanding disputes regarding self consciousness reason evil and alienation Kant's 'Critique of Pure Reason' James R. Non-Violence and Ecological Imperatives Ramin Jahanbegloo, Pooja Sharma, 2025-08-05 Violence impregnates human life in many ways We do violence to individuals or groups We do violence to plants and animals We do violence to the planet Earth However Nature will not survive our arrogance and patterns of exploiting and destroying the biosphere if we do not break the cycle of violence As such any moral effort to stop barbaric consumerism and chaotic nihilism is simultaneously the possibility of making life and biodiversity flourish on Earth The moral imperative is thus also an ecological imperative Therefore the question is how can we talk about non violence in the current ecological crisis Put differently we can also ask how can non violence be brought to our ecological concerns Martin Luther King Jr once said Injustice anywhere is a threat to justice everywhere The notion of injustice becomes all the more crucial when applied to excluding animals and plants from the history of our planet This eco moral crisis must become more public as the ecological trajectory of the Earth foreshadows a very troublesome future Non violence and Ecological Imperative is a contribution to the relevance and potential of the philosophy of non violence in showing clearly that our viable ecological future depends on attitudes and strategies that are rooted in the Gandhian moment of civilising humanity as an antidote to the violent modern techno industrial way of life The interdependence and cooperation between humans and nature are inevitable Non exploitative and non violent prerequisites of Gandhian ideology entail that interdependence and cooperation must be based on altruistic values and not on self interest and materialistic values This signifies immeasurable love not only among humans but also with nature Thus absolute love substitutes greed Non possession from an absolute love revolutionises the socio ecological paradigm of human civilisation Various ecological scientists and economists have asserted the need for revisiting the harmony between human activities and nature Stern et al 1998 concluded that economic growth would never result in improvement in environmental quality Arrow et al 1995 concluded that economic growth is not a panacea for environmental quality Meadows et al 1972 in his book The Limits to Growth claimed that environmental limits would cause the collapse of the world economic system Against this backdrop Gandhi advocated the process of recycling and minimising waste so that humans adopt a lifestyle that integrates with the ecosystem Humans must dwell in a life that converges with the law of nature and maintains ecological harmony This notion of continuity of life is inspired by the Gandhian philosophy of non violence and absolute love The moment there is a break in continuity it results in violence leading to unrest or conflict dismantling the process of continuity     Descartes's Meditations Catherine Wilson,2003 This new introduction to Descartes Meditations will introduce student readers to some basic problems in the philosophy of language and the theory of perception It is well suited to university level courses on Descartes but can also be read with profit by students in other disciplines
