Design Emotion Moves Pieter Desmet:

Design and Emotion Moves Pieter M.A. Desmet, Jeroen van Erp, MariAnne Karlsson, 2020-11-09 Design Emotion Moves is an edited collection of papers presented at the 5th international Design and Emotion Conference in Gothenburg Sweden In spite of the wide variety of angles and approaches all authors share the basic proposition that in order to understand users or consumers and their behaviour one must understand the affective responses that are involved in the processes of buying using and owning products The book should appeal to anyone interested in understanding emotions involved in human product relationships and in techniques that can help utilising these insights in design practice

Emotion Measurement Herbert L. Meiselman, 2021-04-09 Emotion Measurement Second Edition highlights key elements of emotions that should be considered in the measurement of emotions in both academic and commercial environments This edition begins with an updated review of basic studies of emotion including the theory physiology and psychology of emotions as these are the foundational studies which food scientists as well as product developers and marketing professionals need to be aware of The second section highlights methods for studying emotions and reviews the different approaches to emotion measurement questionnaire self report behavioral and physiological This section explores the merits of intrinsic versus extrinsic measures of emotion Some new measurement approaches have emerged since the first edition of this book The book then presents practical applications with chapters on emotion research in food and beverage as well as in a range of products and clinical settings The experience in testing product emotions has increased since the first edition when product emotion research was newer Finally Emotion Measurement Second Edition provides coverage of cross cultural research on emotions This is critical because much of the newer commercial research is aimed at markets around the world requiring methods that work in many cultures And the universality of emotions has been a topic of research for decades Taking both an academic and applied approach Emotion Measurement Second Edition will be an invaluable reference for those conducting basic academic research on emotions and for sensory and consumer scientists and the product developers and marketing professionals they work alongside Reviews both the academic and the applied strands of emotion measurement research Focuses on cross cultural studies of emotions which is currently lacking from most of the literature in the field Highlights methods for studying emotions in both basic and applied studies

Experience Design Peter Benz, 2014-12-18 How can we design better experiences Experience Design brings together leading international scholars to provide a cross section of critical thinking and professional practice within this emerging field Contributors writing from theoretical empirical and applied design perspectives address the meaning of experience draw on case studies to explore ways in which specific experiences can be designed examine which methodologies and practices are employed in this process and consider how experience design interrelates with other academic and professional disciplines Chapters are grouped into thematic sections addressing positions objectives and environments and interactions and performances with individual case studies addressing a wide range of experiences including urban spaces the hospital patient museum visitors mobile phone users and music festival and restaurant goers

Moving Objects Damon Taylor, 2020-09-17 Moving Objects deals with emotive design designed objects that demand to be engaged with rather than simply used If postmodernism depended upon ironic distance and Critical Design is all about questions then emotive design runs hotter than this confronting how designers are using feelings in what they make Damon Taylor's original study considers these emotionally laden highly authored works often produced in limited editions and sold like art objects such as a chair made from cuddly toys a leather sofa that resembles a cow and a jewellery box fashioned from human hair Tracing the phenomenon back to the Dutch inflection that began with Droog designers like Jurgen Bey and Hella Jongerius Taylor conducts an analysis of the development of Design Art and looks for its origins in the uncanny explorations of surrealism Offering a critique of Speculative Design and an examination of the work of designers such as Mathias Bengtsson whose work involves growing furniture inside computers Taylor asks what happens when the tangible melts into the datascape and design becomes a question of mobilities In this way Moving Objects examines contemporary issues of how we live with artefacts and what design can do

Design Issues ,2018 The first American academic journal to examine design history theory and criticism Design Issues provokes inquiry into the cultural and intellectual issues surrounding design Regular features include theoretical and critical articles by professional and scholarly contributors extensive book reviews illustrations and a section for reader response Special issues concentrate on particular themes such as artificial intelligence product seminars design in Asia and design education

Why do some products become beloved while others are quickly forgotten Design profoundly shapes our lives often in unnoticed but significant ways Every design from simple everyday products to complex systems and services elicits emotions that influence our decisions behavior and well being Yet the emotional dimension of design remains underexplored leaving a wealth of opportunities untapped This book addresses this gap revealing how designers can harness emotions to create products and services that users genuinely love and can't live without Targeted at designers marketing innovation professionals and students the book offers practical tools and methods to integrate emotional insights into the design process Readers will learn to navigate the fundamental human needs choose the right emotion to spark behavior create emotion blueprints and resolve need clashes Through real world case studies foundational research and hands on exercises it equips readers to move beyond functionality and aesthetics creating designs that resonate deeply with users With over 30 years of combined expertise in design emotion research and consultancy with global brands the authors provide a comprehensive framework grounded in scientific theories and practical applications The book stands out by using the science of emotion to connect practical design considerations to humanistic principles Design & Applied Arts Index ,2001 Design for Emotion and Subjective Well-being Pieter Desmet,Steven Fokkinga,Delft University of Technology, Faculty of Industrial Design Engineering,2011 MLA International Bibliography of Books and Articles on the Modern Languages and Literatures Modern Language Association of America,2008 Vols for 1969 include ACTFL annual bibliography of books and articles on pedagogy in foreign languages 1969 Emotions, Technology, and Design Sharon Tettegah,Safiya Noble,2015-12-28 Emotional design explicitly addresses the emotional relationship between the objects and the subjects of design in this book the objects are technologies and the subjects are technology users The first section delves into the philosophy and theory of emotional design to provide a foundation for the rest of the book which goes on to discuss emotional design principles the design and use of emoticons and then intelligent agents in a variety of settings A conclusion chapter covers future research and directions Emotions Technology and Design provides a thorough look at how technology design affects emotions and how to use that understanding in practical applications Discusses the role of culture trust and identity in empathetic technology Presents a framework for using sound to elicit positive emotional responses Details the emotional use of color in design Explores the use of emoticons earcons and tactons Addresses the emotional design specific to agent based environments Designing for Emotion Aaron Walter,2020 Emotional Design Donald A. Norman,2007

Did you ever wonder why cheap wine tastes better in fancy glasses Why sales of Macintosh computers soared when Apple introduced the colorful iMac New research on emotion and cognition has shown that attractive things really do work better as Donald Norman amply demonstrates in this fascinating book which has garnered acclaim everywhere from Scientific American to The New Yorker Emotional Design articulates the profound influence of the feelings that objects evoke from our willingness to spend thousands of dollars on Gucci bags and Rolex watches to the impact of emotion on the everyday objects of tomorrow Norman draws on a wealth of examples and the latest scientific insights to present a bold exploration of the objects in our everyday world Emotional Design will appeal not only to designers and manufacturers but also to managers psychologists and general readers who love to think about their stuff Positive Design Pieter Marc Andries Desmet,2013

Emotion Guideline Workbook Amic G. Ho,2024-05-28 This book proposes a set of guiding principles with the intention of assisting the reader in regulating the emotional changes that occur throughout the design process It is the perfect workbook for design art and creative students as well as their instructors researchers and other learners who are interested in emotion driven design Proceedings of the First International Conference on Design and Emotion ,1999 The

Aesthetics of Emotion Gerald C. Cupchik,2018-06-21 Gerald C Cupchik builds a bridge between science and the humanities arguing that interactions between mind and body in everyday life are analogous to relations between subject matter and style in art According to emotional phase theory emotional reactions emerge in a perfect storm whereby meaningful situations evoke bodily memories that unconsciously shape and unify the experience Similarly in expressionist or impressionist painting an evocative visual style can spontaneously colour the experience and interpretation of subject matter Three basic situational themes encompass complementary pairs of primary emotions attachment happiness sadness assertion fear anger and absorption interest disgust Action episodes in which a person adapts to challenges or seeks to realize goals benefit from energizing bodily responses which focus attention on the situation while providing feedback in the form of pleasure or pain regarding success or failure In high representational paintings style is transparent making it easier to fluently identify subject matter Feeling the Pull Candace Horner,2014 Research in design emotion and product experience has focused on establishing a connection between the aesthetic qualities of products and emotions Studies in product expression have demonstrated relevant patterns between aesthetics and spatial reasoning In design research fully understanding latent qualities of consumers assists in developing an immersive product experience which in turn can engender a lasting product relationship This study evaluates how people interpret the emotionality of form in order to establish a veritable method for interpreting emotional variables in 3D objects This research assesses the emotional perception of aesthetic values in 2D and 3D teapots A teapot image collection and taxonomy was constructed with 101 images of teapots across four centuries Eighty four participants completed a card sorting task of twenty randomly distributed teapot images taken from the total 101 image collection into Plutchik s eight emotion categories Individual pieces of the teapots were coded according to the base handle lid or spout that was presented in the image The coded pieces from the card sorting task were arranged per frequency in the overall set Through the use of response data from the card sorting task a network of the images was developed in Pathfinder The content of these results were compared to images of models gathered during an interview with an interactive co creation method referred to as Magnetic Modeling Magnetic Modeling is a methodological tool that allowed participants to manipulate individualized pieces of 3D printed teapots into proposed emotional labels The findings of this research establish prototypical associations in aesthetic traits and teapot piece combinations for each emotion category Participant responses were categorized into 4 personas representing the types of perceptual bias in the studies participants A discussion and comparison of the methods for academic and theoretical practice is provided
