An Examination of Manufactured Housing as a Community- and Asset-building Strategy William C. Apgar, 2002

Manufactured Insecurity Esther Sullivan, 2018-08-07 Manufactured Insecurity is the first book of its kind to provide an in depth investigation of the social legal geospatial and market forces that intersect to create housing insecurity for an entire class of low income residents Drawing on rich ethnographic data collected before during and after mobile home park closures and community wide evictions in Florida and Texas the two states with the largest mobile home populations Manufactured Insecurity forces social scientists and policymakers to respond to a fundamental question how do the poor access and retain secure housing in the face of widespread poverty deepening inequality and scarce legal protection With important contributions to urban sociology housing studies planning and public policy the book provides a broader understanding of inequality and social welfare in the United States today Singlewide Sonya Salamon, Katherine MacTavish, 2017-10-15 In Singlewide Sonya Salamon and Katherine MacTavish explore the role of the trailer park as a source of affordable housing America s trailer parks most in rural places shelter an estimated 12 million people and the authors show how these parks serve as a private solution to a pressing public need Singlewide considers the circumstances of families with school age children in trailer parks serving whites in Illinois Hispanics in New Mexico and African Americans in North Carolina By looking carefully at the daily lives of families who live side by side in rows of manufactured homes Salamon and MacTavish draw conclusions about the importance of housing community and location in the families dreams of opportunities and success as signified by eventually owning land and a conventional home Working poor rural families who engage with what Salamon and MacTavish call the mobile home industrial complex may become caught in an expensive trap starting with their purchase of a mobile home A family that must site its trailer in a land lease trailer park struggles to realize any of the anticipated benefits of homeownership Seeking to break down stereotypes Salamon and MacTavish reveal the important place that trailer parks hold within the United States national experience In so doing they attempt to integrate and normalize a way of life that many see as outside the mainstream suggesting that families who live in trailer parks rather than being trailer trash culturally resemble the parks neighbors who live in conventional homes Consumer Reports questions regarding housing for the elderly the disabled and the poor Why is it that some locales can offer affordable accessible and attractive housing while the large majority of cities fail to do so Invisible City calls for a brave new housing paradigm that makes the needs of marginalized populations visible to policy makers Drawing on fascinating case studies in Houston Louisville and New Orleans and analyzing census information as well as policy reports Gilderbloom offers a comprehensive engaging and optimistic theory of how housing can be remade with a progressive vision While many contemporary urban scholars have failed to capture the dynamics of what is happening in our cities Gilderbloom presents a new vision of shelter as a force that shapes all residents Transforming the Federal Housing Administration for the 21st Century United States.
