Departed KBUY on 2/18/22 at 11:16EST after landing to pick up two dogs to transport to KDET on a Pilots N Paws rescue flight. Took 160 gals of Jet A at KBUY. Flight was good and uneventful. Allowed to proceed to KDET after FOREY intersection. Coupled and intercepted ILS for RWY 33 to aid in visual landing. Runway braking action reported as 3/1/3. Ran Interpolated Approach and Landing Analysis on My Phenom iPad app and it showed Factored landing distance of 4605 feet. Tower requested braking report after landing and told previous landing aircraft thought there could be an icy patch in the middle of the runway. Touched down at runway aiming markers at proper VREF speed. Started to apply brakes and felt a shimmy. Eased off slightly to maintain directional control and then reapplied brakes. Plane felt like it was skidding and not braking. Applied brakes harder and realized I was not going to stop in time. Hit left brake hard to spin the plane and avoid fence past end of runway and road beyond it. Hit the ILS lights and system and came to a stop. I feel the entire length of the runway was contaminated with ice under snow. Shut engines down and cut fuel supply. Called tower to report and requested fire truck assistance although there was no fire but as a precaution. Evacuated the aircraft with the two dogs. Airport truck showed up in 5-10 minutes and fire trucks in about 15-20 minutes. Fluid leaking under right wings was discovered to be hydraulic fluid. Rode back to FBO with airport attendant and gave all requested information and had brief conversation with FAA on the phone.
