Congo Inc is a searing tale about ecological political and economic failure Congo Inc In Koli Jean Bofane, 2019 African Literatures as World Literature Alexander Fyfe, Madhu Krishnan, 2022-11-03 The enormous success of writers such as Teju Cole and Chimamanda Ngozi Adichie demonstrates that African literatures are now an international phenomenon But the apparent global legibility of a small number of mostly Anglophone writers in the diaspora raises the question of how literary producers from the continent both past and present have situated their work in relation to the world and the kinds of material networks to which this corresponds This collection shows how literatures from across the African continent engage with conceptualizations of the world in relation to local social and political issues Focusing on a wide variety of geographic historical and linguistic contexts the essays in this volume seek answers to the following questions What are the topographies of the world in different literary texts and traditions What are that world's limits boundaries and possibilities How do literary modes and forms such as realism narrative poetry or the political essay affect the presentation of worldliness What are the material networks of circulation that allow African literatures to become world literature African literatures it emerges do important theoretical work that speaks to the very core of world literary studies today Congo Inc. In Koli Jean Bofane, 2014-04-16 T00:00:00+02:00 Le jeune Isookanga quitte sa for t et son village pygm e pour faire du business Kinshasa Sur son chemin de nombreux personnages des plus pauvres aux plus puissants des plus vils aux plus na fs composent un saisissant tableau du Congo contemporain aux prises avec la mondialisation Apr s Math matiques congolaises prix Jean Muno grand prix litt raire de l Afrique noire prix litt raire de la SCAM pr s de 20 000 exemplaires vendus In Koli Jean Bofane n a rien perdu de son nergie de son humour ni de sa lucidit politique *Litt ratures africaines et ecologie. Translation Revisited Mamadou Diawara, Elísio S. Macamo, Jean-Bernard Ouédraogo, 2019-01-17 How realistic is it to expect translation to render the world intelligible in a context shaped by different historical trajectories and experiences Can we rely on human universals to translate through the unique and specific webs of meaning that languages represent. If knowledge production is a kind of translation then it is fair to assume that the possibility of translation has largely rested on the idea that Western experience is the repository of these human universals against the background of which different human experiences can be rendered intelligible. The problem with this assumption however is that there are limits to Western claims to universalism mainly because these claims were at the service of the desire to justify imperial expansion. This book addresses issues arising from these claims to universalism in the process of producing knowledge about diverse African social realities. It shows that the idea of knowledge production as translation can be usefully deployed to inquire into how knowledge of Africa translates into an imperial attempt at changing local norms, institutions and spiritual values. Translation in this sense is the normalization of meanings issuing from a local historical experience claiming to be universal. The task of producing knowledge of African social realities cannot be adequately addressed without a prior critical engagement with how translation has come to shape our ways of rendering Africa intelligible.

Literature and Cartography Anders Engberg-Pedersen, 2017-11-24. The relationship of texts and maps and the mappability of literature examined from Homer to Houellebecq. Literary authors have frequently called on elements of cartography to ground fictional space, to visualize sites and to help readers get their bearings in the imaginative world of the text. Today the convergence of digital mapping and globalization has spurred a cartographic turn in literature. This book gathers leading scholars to consider the relationship of literature and cartography. Generously illustrated with full color maps and visualizations it offers the first systematic overview of an emerging approach to the study of literature. The literary map is not merely an illustrative guide but represents a set of relations and tensions that raise questions about representation, fiction and space. Is literature even mappable? In exploring the cartographic components of literature the contributors have not only brought literary theory to bear on the map but have also enriched the vocabulary and perspectives of literary studies with cartographic terms. After establishing the theoretical and methodological terrain they trace important developments in the history of literary cartography considering topics that include Homer and Joyce, Goethe and the representation of nature and African cartographies. Finally they consider cartographic genres that reveal the broader connections between texts and maps, discussing literary map genres in American literature and the coexistence of image and text in early maps. When cartographic aspirations outstripped factual knowledge, mapmakers turned to textual fictions. Contributors: Jean Marc Besse, Bruno Bosteels, Patrick M. Bray, Martin Brückner, Tom Conley, Jörg Dönne, Anders Engberg-Pedersen, John K. Noyes, Ricardo Padrón, Barbara Piatti, Simone Pinet, Clara Rowland, Oliver Simons, Robert Stockhammer, Dominic Thomas, Burkhardt Wolf.

Bibliographie d'histoire littéraire française Otto Klapp, 2022. Williams Sassine n'est pas n'importe qui Florence Paravy, 2018. Cet ouvrage collectif partiellement issu d'un colloque organisé à l'Université de Paris Nanterre en mai 2014 entend rendre justice à l'écrivain guinéen Williams Sassine (1944-1997) qui n'a sans doute pas bénéficié jusqu'à présent de toute l'attention qu'il méritait. Par ce titre en forme de clin d'oeil l'un de ses romans il s'agit de rappeler que son oeuvre riche, diverse et surprenante par ses changements de ton, de genre, de registres et de thèmes fait de lui l'un des auteurs majeurs de la littérature africaine francophone d'après les Indépendances. L'ouvrage aborde l'ensemble de sa création littéraire inaugurant ainsi l'analyse de ses oeuvres dramatiques. Ses textes sont soumis des éclairages variés qui mettent en lumière certains aspects de son esthétique romanesque soulignant le caractère novateur et postcolonial de son critique théâtrale ou encore reviennent les enjeux politiques et philosophiques qui sous-tendent et déterminent en profondeur l'évolution de l'ensemble de l'oeuvre romanesque de théâtre nouvelles ou chroniques depuis la première parution 1973 jusqu'à l'ultime publication posthume 1998. Complétant l'apport des contributions universitaires, le volume propose enfin d'autres regards sur l'écrivain et son oeuvre, celui de sa biographe des écrivains Tierno Monembo et Alioum Fantour ses compatriotes et de comédiens qui ont choisi de mettre en scène les textes de W. Sassine. Back cover Bibliographie der französischen Literaturwissenschaft: 2015 Otto Klapp, 1960
