Dhet Past Paper Memo:

Living Standards in the Past Robert C. Allen, Tommy Bengtsson, Martin Dribe, 2005-03-24 Why did Europe experience industrialisation and modern economic growth before China India or Japan This is one of the most fundamental questions in Economic History and one that has provoked intense debate The main concern of this book is to determine when the gap in living standards between the East and the West emerged The established view dating back to Adam Smith is that the gap emerged long before the Industrial Revolution perhaps thousands of years ago While this view has been called into question and many of the explanations for it greatly undermined the issue demands much more empirical research than has yet been undertaken How did the standard of living in Europe and Asia compare in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries The present book proposes an answer by considering evidence of three sorts The first is economic focusing on income food production wages and prices The second is demographic comparing heights life expectancy and other demographic indicators The third combines the economic and demographic by investigating the demographic vulnerability to short term economic stress The contributions show the highly complex and diverse pattern of the standard of living in the pre industrial period The general picture emerging is not one of a great divergence between East and West but instead one of considerable similarities These similarities not only pertain to economic aspects of standard of living but also to demography and the sensitivity to economic fluctuations In addition to these similarities there were also pronounced regional differences within the East and within the West regional differences that in many cases were larger than the average differences between Europe and Asia This clearly highlights the importance of analysing several dimensions of the standard of living as well as the danger of neglecting regional social and household specific differences when assessing the level of well being in the past

Feeling lives: An intersectional exploration of past experiences and present living Lindsay Clowes, LJ Theo, Nadia Sanger, Landa Mabenge, Sisa Ngabaza, 2023-11-15 We each make sense of the world through our embodied feeling lives We do it through the social groupings contexts and processes which history rather than biology presents and assigns to us In this collection we aim to illustrate how these embodied feelings and emotions underpin contemporary theorising by sharing reflective autobiographical writing by individuals from a wide range of backgrounds and contexts This somewhat unruly collection unsettles conventional academic writing precisely because authors have grounded themselves in the tangible and the personal rather than in abstract theory We hope that readers might see aspects of their own lives in some of these stories develop better understandings of lives that are experienced very differently and start or continue to theorise their own lives

Constitution Papers, 1906 The Learning Adult John Holford, Marcella Milana, Richard Waller, Sue Webb, 2019-12-18 Peter Jarvis is a towering figure in adult and lifelong education and a leading and original theorist of learning This book explores the breadth and significance of his work Sixteen chapters by leading international scholars explain and engage critically with his theorisation of learning and with his extensive writings on the sociology politics ethics and history of adult education and on professional education lifelong learning and the learning society The authors discuss his ideas their influence and origins They cover his contribution to learning theory the recurring ethical themes in his writing and the implications of his work for areas such as the education of migrants They explore his global engagement as a scholar not only in different areas of lifelong education but across the world much travelled Peter Jarvis has supported the growth of adult education as a humane profession as well as a field of study in Africa Asia North and South America and Australasia as well as Europe They also address the intense humanism of his work which has been continually informed by theological and ethical concerns though he taught for three decades at the University of Surrey where he was Head of the Department of Educational Studies and is now Emeritus Professor he has been a Minister of the Methodist Church for over half a century This book was originally published as a special issue of the International Journal of Lifelong Education Theodore
