Transforming African Food Systems Claire Helen Quinn, Andrew John Dougill, Julian Douglas May, 2025-10-24

Overcoming Africa s development challenges cannot be uncoupled from the need to transform the continent s food systems One in four people in sub Saharan Africa faces food insecurity and Africa will need to produce 80% more food by 2050 The challenge is complicated by the interrelationship between agriculture and environmental sustainability In addition agriculture also remains one of the most effective pathways out of poverty on the continent As agriculture both contributes to and is affected by climate change there is a pressing need for innovation in climate smart agriculture that considers the environment as integral to the food system However access to nutritious safe food and improved livelihoods does not solely depend on boosting agricultural productivity Food systems encompass the activities and actors involved in all aspects of the food supply chain from production through to consumption and disposal of food A food systems research approach recognises the importance of interactions and relationships between activities actors and thus the importance of interdisciplinary approaches for achieving transformative change The concerted and coordinated actions of the food industry agriculture production and processing retail food service sector and waste disposal and consumers are crucial to promote sustainable consumption and production with a focus on reducing all forms of food losses throughout the entire supply chain Food systems transformation needs to focus not just on increasing production but on access to food and markets nutrition diversity and security climate resilience and adaptation of both agro ecological systems and the food system more broadly This Research Topic focuses specifically on transformation of African food systems While comprising many similar activities actors to other food systems African food systems also have activities actors and conditions that are specific to the African context These contextual factors include a shared history of colonisation that creates specific historical demographic political and socio cultural drivers of change value chains that are often short and reliant on informal exchange and small scale operations distinct territorial imbalances that create significant inequalities and normative and cognitive institutions that create diverse cultural beliefs and values while influencing the roles of women and youth in food systems We welcome submission of original research articles case studies systematic reviews or meta analysis that offer new insights and perspectives on African food systems transformation This topic will bring together interdisciplinary research and practice and provide a platform for knowledge exchange collaboration and collective action for transforming African food systems so that they are equitable resilient and sustainable Globalization and Global History Barry K. Gills,William Thompson,2012-11-12 Globalization and Global History argues that globalization is not an exotic and new phenomenon Instead it emphasizes that globalization is something that has been with us as long as there have been people who are both interdependent and aware of that fact Studying globalization from the vantage point of long term global history permits theoretical and empirical investigation allowing the authors collected to assess the extent of ongoing transformations and to compare them to earlier iterations With this historical advantage the extent of ongoing changes which previously appeared unprecedented can be contrasted to similar episodes in the past The book is divided into three sections The first focuses on how globalization has been written about from a historical perspective The second part advances three different takes on how best to view globalization from a very long term stance The final section continues this interpretative thread by examining more narrow aspects of globalization processes ranging from incorporation processes to systemic disruptions The Economics of Part-time Farming Ruth M. Gasson,1988 Off-farm Work in Three Coastal Communities of West Kalimantan, Indonesia Syamsuni Arman,1989 Development Study - Department of Agricultural Economics and Management University of Reading. Department of Agricultural Economics and Management,1984 An Environmental History of the UK Defence Estate, 1945 to the Present Marianna Dudley,2012-05-03 This book brings to attention the history of places that have traditionally remained under the radar in discussions of war and the environment through site based studies of five training areas in southwest England and Wales Salisbury Plain Lulworth Dartmoor Sennybridge and Castlemartin At these sites the big events of the twentieth century are written into landscapes that absorb their impact and reflect change in intriguing ways Here however environment is more than a canvas on which historical forces play out it has an agency of its own as the depiction of the surprising nature and robust habitats of the training areas recognises An Environmental History of the UK Defence Estate 1945 to the Present critically examines the gradual greening of the MoD as it developed policies of military environmentalism It includes the histories of the ghost villages created by forced evictions and charts the rise and fall of anti military protest movements It depicts heated confrontations mass trespasses and demands for public access alongside conservation work and training activities situating the human histories of these sites within their environmental history and taking the reader behind the barbed wire in the first study of its kind The Palestinian Economy ,1994 Farm Household Adjustment in Western Europe, 1987-1991 John M.
