Script Into Performance Richard Hornby,1987 Four Shakespearean Period Pieces Margreta de Grazia,2021-05-03

In the study of Shakespeare since the eighteenth century four key concepts have served to situate Shakespeare in history chronology periodization secularization and anachronism Yet recent theoretical work has called for their reappraisal Anachronisms previously condemned as errors in the order of time are being hailed as alternatives to that order Conversely chronology and periods its mainstays are now charged with having distorted the past they have been entrusted to represent and secularization once considered the driving force of the modern era no longer holds sway over the past or the present In light of this reappraisal can Shakespeare studies continue unshaken This is the question Four Shakespearean Period Pieces takes up devoting a chapter to each term on the rise of anachronism the chronologizing of the canon the staging of plays in period and the use of Shakespeare in modernity s secularizing project To read these chapters is to come away newly alert to how these fraught concepts have served to regulate the canon s afterlife Margreta de Grazia does not entirely abandon them but deftly works around and against them to offer fresh insights on the reading editing and staging of the author at the heart of our literary canon

Writing Without Words Elizabeth Hill Boone, Walter Mignolo, 1994 The history of writing or so the standard story goes is an ascending process evolving toward the alphabet and finally culminating in the full writing of recorded speech Writing without Words challenges this orthodoxy and with it widespread notions of literacy and dominant views of art and literature history and geography Asking how knowledge was encoded and preserved in Pre Columbian and early colonial Mesoamerican cultures the authors focus on systems of writing that did not strive to represent speech Their work reveals the complicity of ideology in the history of literacy and offers new insight into the history of writing The contributors who include art historians anthropologists and literary theorists examine the ways in which ancient Mesoamerican and Andean peoples conveyed meaning through hieroglyphic pictorial and coded systems systems inseparable from the ideologies they were developed to serve We see then how these systems changed with the European invasion and how uniquely colonial writing systems came to embody the post conquest American ideologies The authors also explore the role of these early systems in religious discourse and their relation to later colonial writing Bringing the insights from Mesoamerica and the Andes to bear on a fundamental exchange among art history literary theory semiotics and anthropology the volume reveals the power contained in the medium of writing Contributors Elizabeth Hill Boone Tom Cummins Stephen Houston Mark B King Dana Leibsohn Walter D Mignolo John Monaghan John M D Pohl Joanne Rappaport Peter van der Loo
