Relevance Relations in Discourse Regina Blass,1990-11-22 This book uses Sperber and Wilson s relevance theory to show that connectivity in discourse is a pragmatic rather than a semantic matter it results from relevance relations between text and context rather than from relations linguistically encoded in the text In two introductory chapters Regina Blass argues that relevance theory offers a more explanatory account of discourse connectivity than do alternative approaches based on notions of cohesion coherence and topic In subsequent chapters she introduces data from the language Sissala and shows how relevance theory can play an important role in guiding and constraining semantic and pragmatic analyses of these data This approach reveals unexpected results for example the detection of an interpretive use marker in Sissala with implications for the analysis of so called hearsay phenomena in other languages and leads to an alternative basis for particle typology From French to Creole Chris Corne,1999 French Foreign Policy ,1967 Mistake, Fraud and Duties to Inform in European Contract Law Ruth Sefton-Green,2005-02-10 This 2005 examination of twelve case studies about mistake fraud and duties to inform reveals significant differences about how contract law works in thirteen European legal systems and despite the fact that the solutions proposed are often similar what divergent values underlie the legal rules Whereas some jurisdictions recognise increasing duties to inform in numerous contracts so that the destiny of mistake and fraud classical defects of consent may appear to be uncertain other jurisdictions continue to refuse such duties as a general rule or fail to recognise the need to protect one of the parties where there is an imbalance in bargaining power or information Avoiding preconceptions as to where and why these differences exist this book first examines the historical origins and development of defects of consent then considers the issues from a comparative and critical standpoint The Parliamentary Debates, Official Report Great Britain.
