Community Led Regeneration A Guide:

Community-Led Generation Pablo Sendra, Daniel Fitzpatrick, 2020-04-15 Through seven London case studies of communities opposing social housing demolition and or proposing community led plans Community Led Regeneration offers a toolkit of planning mechanisms and other strategies that residents and planners working with communities can use to resist demolition and propose community led schemes The case studies are Walthamton and Elgins Community Homes West Ken and Gibbs Green Community Homes Cressingham Gardens Community Greater Carpenters Neighbourhood Forum Focus E15 People s Empowerment Alliance for Custom House PEACH and Alexandra and Ainsworth Estates Together these case studies represent a broad overview of groups that formed as a reaction to proposed demolitions of residents housing and groups that formed as a way to manage residents homes and public space better Drawing from the case studies the toolkit includes the use of formal planning instruments as well as other strategies such as sustained campaigning and activism forms of citizen led design and alternative proposals for the management and ownership of housing by communities themselves Community Led Regeneration targets a diverse audience from planning professionals and scholars working with communities to housing activists and residents resisting the demolition of their neighbourhoods and proposing their own plans

Community Engagement in Housing-led Regeneration Sam Lister, John Perry, Marilyn Thornley, 2007 Approaches to Community Governance Martin Knox, David Alcock, Anna Roderick, John Iles, 2002 This report examines what legal mechanisms exist for involving residents across all tenures in having a say in how their neighbourhood is run A practical and easy to read guide it looks at seven case studies from around the country to explore how each neighbourhood involves residents in governance against a set of key indices explore the different legal models used identify key principles in establishing a mechanism for involvement that works The authors are practising lawyers with years of experience in setting up and advising organisations involved in community governance This report is therefore highly relevant to the area of neighbourhood management Housing and Regeneration Ian Doolittle, 2003 With the assistance of case studies this work guides those responsible for devising and delivering a strategy for social housing and regeneration It discusses the relevant law from local authority powers to statutory financial responsibilities in the context of government initiatives and policy Democratic Sustainability in a New Era of Localism John Stanton, 2014-06-27 Change and development are going on all around us On both an international platform as well as at the local governmental and community level governments decision and policy makers constantly strive to improve the world in which we live seeking to make it better and to improve quality of life This book focuses on such development in the context of localism in the UK It strips the principle of local sustainability down to its constituent parts and considers the extent to which it can be said to be central to local life As part of this it presents the case for the importance of accountability and citizen participation in achieving objectives aligned with sustainability and illustrates the relationships that these principles share On this foundation

it evaluates local government in the UK as well as examples of community led regeneration initiatives and bodies and seeks to determine both the nature of their pursuit of sustainability and the extent to which accountability and citizen participation play a part in that pursuit. It shows that local sustainability is enhanced by accountability and citizen participation those principles ensuring that local people can be central to the process. Whilst its evaluations of local democratic systems in the UK reveal certain issues as regards the extent to which this is reflected in practice it at least demonstrates an enthusiasm and awareness of the important role that accountability and citizen participation can play in the process of local sustainability. The book is aimed at legal academics with relevance also to students in law environmental politics and sustainable development as well as those working in government policy and political practice.

Partnership Working in Rural Regeneration Bill Edwards, 2000. Over the past 15 years partnerships have emerged as a commonplace feature of rural regeneration strategies yet little is known about how rural regeneration partnerships work in practice about their successes or about the obstacles to effective partnership working. This report presents the findings of a two year research project which analysed 154 rural partnerships operating in mid Wales and Shropshire. It examines the processes involved in building and maintaining regeneration partnerships in rural areas and seeks to establish why some partnerships effectively build capacity while others do not. Drawing on an extensive database of rural regeneration partnerships working in the study regions and first hand evidence from those involved in six case study regeneration partnerships. Partnership working in rural regeneration discusses characteristics of rural regeneration partnerships the organisation and structure of such partnerships the experiences of working in partnership the implications of partnerships for future rural governance strategies.

vbTab Examples of good and bad practice are highlighted throughout the report particularly on issues of partnership aims and objectives strategies structure representativeness training resourcing and funding. Partnership working in rural regeneration is essential reading for those working in rural regeneration partnerships policy makers and local and national government as well as anyone with an interest in regeneration strategies and practice.

This book on New Architecture and Urbanism Development of Indian Traditions builds on the contributions from various architects planners educationists decision makers others from across the world who gathered together to create a forum for the promotion of traditional processes and techniques for the creation of the built environment. This forum was initiated by INTBAU India The International Network for Traditional Building Architecture and Urbanism in India and supported by The Nabha Foundation. This book presents the arguments axioms and case studies related to Traditional Architecture and Urbanism in a sequential format. Firstly it examines the New ways of looking at Heritage by separating it from pure history into a living and evolving process. The book looks at what defines traditional methods and their relevance to the contemporary context. It also examines the aspects of Continuity and Contextual frameworks in the built environment. The section on Sustainable Buildings Places and Communities explores the many facets of locally driven processes from the viewpoint of tradition and sustainability. These include many community based planning methods and their applications in shaping the built environment aspects of environmental sustainability and on how appropriateness could be ingrained into current architectural education. Lastly the book delves into a number of executed examples in architecture seeking to learn from tradition and examples in place making urbanism which in turn promotes humane walkable and connected neighbourhoods.

Bridges Into Work? Colin C. Williams, 2001. Policy makers have recently displayed considerable interest in Local Exchange Trading Schemes LETS as potential bridges into work for unemployed people. This report provides the first comprehensive evaluation of the effectiveness of these schemes. Bridges into work is the first comprehensive evaluation of LETS feeds into evidence based policy making by identifying the ways in which LETS build bridges into work for unemployed people advocates the recognition and valuing of work beyond employment identifies the barriers to participation in LETS and how these can be overcome.

The Contested Metropolis Raffaele Paloscia, 2004. Inspiring provocative and encouraging alternatives to the crises which are overtaking our cities. Berlin Brussels Florence London Paris Toronto Zurich fascinating western metropolises which are all sophisticated icons of international commerce finance tourism though in very different ways. Striking appearances and successful structures are however only one side of the reality. On the shadow side there are the insidious changes which have come about primarily for reasons of quick profit and consumerism social and ethnic ghettos are on the increase. Yet in all these cities there are forces which are facing up to these supposedly irreversible developments and which must be taken seriously. INURA an International Network for Urban Research and Action published Possible Urban Worlds in 1998 to draw attention to contemporary urban renewal. Now they are publishing Contested Metropolis which looks at these seven cities presenting the most important critics and alternative
