Silverman,2008-01-08 Coherence entanglement and interference arise from quantum superposition the most distinctive and puzzling feature of quantum physics Silverman whose extensive experimental and theoretical work has helped elucidate these processes presents a clear and engaging discussion of the role of quantum superposition in diverse quantum phenomena such as the wavelike nature of particle propagation indistinguishability of identical particles nonlocal interactions of correlated particles topological effects of magnetic fields and chiral asymmetry in nature He also examines how macroscopic quantum coherence may be able to extricate physics from its most challenging quandary the collapse of a massive degenerate star to a singularity in space in which the laws of physics break down Explained by a physicist with a concern for clarity and experimental achievability the extraordinary nature of quantum superposition will fascinate the reader not only for its apparent strangeness but also for its comprehensibility      Guide to Indian Periodical Literature ,1987      Tunneling Dynamics in Open Ultracold Bosonic Systems Axel U. J. Lode,2014-07-22 This thesis addresses the intriguing topic of the quantum tunnelling of many body systems such as Bose Einstein condensates Despite the enormous amount of work on the tunneling of a single particle through a barrier we know very little about how a system made of several or of many particles tunnels through a barrier to open space The present work uses numerically exact solutions of the time dependent many boson Schr dinger equation to explore the rich physics of the tunneling to open space process in ultracold bosonic particles that are initially prepared as a Bose Einstein condensate and subsequently allowed to tunnel through a barrier to open space The many body process is built up from concurrently occurring single particle processes that are characterized by different momenta These momenta correspond to the chemical potentials of systems with decreasing particle number The many boson process exhibits exciting collective phenomena the escaping particles fragment and lose their coherence with the source and among each other whilst correlations build up within the system The detailed understanding of the many body process is used to devise and test a scheme to control the final state momentum distributions and even the correlation dynamics of the tunneling process
