Cafcass Section 7 Report:

Cafcass's response to increased demand for its services Great Britain: National Audit Office,2010-07-28 Cafcass's management could not have predicted the sustained increase in care cases from November 2008 Cafcass had to deal with an extra 200 new care cases each month from November 2008 around 40 per cent more Simultaneously the courts needed advice on hundreds more children involved in family breakdowns Between November 2008 and July 2009 the number of children involved in care and other public law proceedings without a dedicated family court adviser grew from around 250 to 1 250 Cafcass was not well placed to respond efficiently and effectively because it had only partly resolved known organisational challenges around management information IT systems and staff engagement by the time demand started to increase Cafcass increased its capacity and between August 2009 and June 2010 reduced the proportion of children without a family court adviser from 10 per cent to 2 per cent in care cases and from 34 per cent to 5 per cent in family breakdown cases The Department allowed Cafcass to bring forward 4.6 million from the 2009/10 and 2010/11 budgets and gave Cafcass an extra 4.8 million The cost increases do not represent a failure of value for money Cafcass is now implementing a 10 million transformation programme that should allow it to improve how it deals with future fluctuations in demand In order to be successful these changes will require greater organisational cohesiveness and improvements in staff morale Cafcass's response to increased demand for its services Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Committee of Public Accounts,2010-11-11 Following the publicity around the Baby Peter tragedy in 2008 Cafcass the Children and Family Court Advisory and Support Service experienced a significant and sustained increase in demand for its services receiving around 34 per cent more care cases in 2009/10 than the previous year This led to chaos across the family justice system and exposed Cafcass as an organisation that was not fit for purpose in dealing with the increased number of cases Although judges in the family court are satisfied with the quality of the advice and reports that Cafcass's family court advisers provide Cafcass has failed to get to grips with fundamental weaknesses in its culture management and performance Ofsted inspections reported an inadequate service Allocation of cases to courts is slow data held is inaccurate sickness absence is unacceptably high and staff morale is low Cafcass was only able to respond to the increase in demand through the use of temporary measures duty allocations which allowed it to do less work or to delay work on cases Transitional arrangements pending the outcome of the Family Justice Review aim to continue reducing delays in allocating cases while minimising the use of duty allocations The Committee does not share the Department's confidence that the substantial organisational problems will be overcome by 2011 Strong leadership renewed energy and focused commitment are needed to sort this situation out if Cafcass is to become the world class organisation it aspires to be How To Represent Yourself in the Family Court J. Hadden,R. Davies,2015-10-01 This book covers areas such as contact between parents and children where a child should live and with whom where a child should go to school domestic violence and many other issues where agreement may not be possible It sets out the law in a way you will be able to understand and apply and contains a wealth of practical tips to ensure that you present yourself and your case well throughout proceedings It will guide you in drafting statements addressing the court answering questions during cross examination and dealing with professionals at court

Legal-Lay Discourse and Procedural Justice in Family and County Courts Tatiana Grieshofer, 2024-04-11 Focusing on adversarial legal settings this Element explores discursive practices in court proceedings which often involve unrepresented parties private family proceedings and small claims cases Such proceedings present the main caseload of county and family courts but pose immense challenges when it comes to legal lay communication Drawing on court observations alongside textual and interview data the Element pursues three aims 1 developing the methodological and theoretical framework for exploring discursive practices in legal settings 2 establishing the link between legal lay discourse and procedural justice 3 presenting and contextualising linguistic phenomena as an inherent part of court research and practice The Element illustrates how linguistic input can contribute to procedural changes and court reforms across different adversarial and non adversarial legal settings The exploration of discursive practices embedded in court processes and procedures consolidates and advances the existing court research conducted within the fields of socio legal studies and forensic and legal linguistics This title is also available as Open Access on Cambridge Core
