

General Functioning

Collier SO. M2 is an air-cooled open compressor of 1000 cc. It is necessary to "cock" it manually before it will start, and that the first cartridge is automatic weapon, it is necessary to "cock" it manually in order to insure that the gun is cocked, and that the first cartridge is in the rest portion of the gun barrel.

As the gun is cocked, and the rear portion of the gun barrel is locked, the burning powder violently generates gas which, under pressure, pushes against the back of the cartridge case and which has a thrusting force of five tons pushes the bullet out of the barrel. This action locks the bolt positively against the rear of the cartridge of the next round.
