Developing Groundwater Guide Rural Supply Water:

Developing Groundwater, 2005      Developing Groundwater Alan M. MacDonald, 2005 A user friendly guide to developing groundwater for rural water supplies in developing countries It provides information on simple effective techniques for siting wells and boreholes assessing resource sustainability constructing and testing the yield of boreholes and wells and monitoring groundwater quality      Handbook of Land and Water Grabs in Africa John Anthony Allan, Wageningen University, Aalto University, Kings College London, 2012-09-10 According to estimates by the International Land Coalition based at the International Fund for Agricultural Development IFAD 57 million hectares of land have been leased to foreign investors since 2007 Current research has focused on human rights issues related to inward investment in land but has been ignorant of water resource issues and the challenges of managing scarce water This handbook will be the first to address inward investment in land and its impact on water resources in Africa The geographical scope of this book will be the African continent where land has attracted the attention of risk taking investors because much land is under utilised marginalized land with associated water resources and rapidly growing domestic food markets The successful implementation of investment strategies in African agriculture could determine the future of more than one billion people An important factor to note is that Sub Saharan Africa will of all the continents be hit hardest by climate change population growth and food insecurity Sensible investment in agriculture is therefore needed however at what costs and at whose expense The book will also address the livelihoods theme and provide a holistic analysis of land and water grabbing in Sub Saharan Africa Four other themes will addressed politics economics environment and the history of land investments in Sub Saharan Africa The editors have involved a highly diverse group of around 25 expert researchers who will review the pro and anti investment arguments geopolitics the role of capitalist investors the environmental contexts and the political implications of and reasons for leasing millions of hectares in Sub Saharan Africa To date there has been no attempt to review land investments through a suite of different lenses thus this handbook will differ significantly from existing research and publication The editors are Tony Allan Professor Emeritus Department of Geography School of Oriental and African Studies and King s College London Jeroen Warner Assistant Professor Disaster Studies University of Wageningen Suvi Sojamo PhD Researcher Water and Development Research Group Aalto University and Martin Keulertz PhD Researcher Department of Geography London Water Group King s College London      Geoscience for the Public Good and Global Development Gregory R. Wessel, Jeffrey K. Greenberg, 2016-05-18 Offers overview of applications of geosciences to sustainable development and geophilanthropic efforts worldwide and offers advice to guide creation of development projects Primacy of geologic input to all development activities is highlighted along with problems that are encountered and environmental issues that must be addressed      Waterlines, 2001      Selected Water Resources Abstracts, 1973
    Journal of Research in Forestry, Wildlife and Environment, 2010-03      Water Wells and Boreholes Bruce Misstear, David

Banks, Lewis Clark, 2006-12-04 Water Wells and Boreholes provides the necessary scientific background together with practical advice using global case studies in an accessible easy to use style suitable for both postgraduates researchers and practitioners The book begins with an introduction to the type and uses of water wells from water supply and irrigation through to groundwater remediation It then covers well siting detailing how to source data from geophysical surveys remote sensing etc Well design is then summarised to ensure the well is stable and cost effective The book ends with three chapters covering well construction well testing and well performance maintenance and rehabilitation Selected Water Resources Abstracts ,1991 Sustainable Groundwater Resources in Africa Yongxin Xu, E. Braune, 2010-12-12 Empowering people reducing poverty improving livelihoods and promoting economic growth while at the ensuring sustainable ecosystems requires local appropriate and widely replicable solutions In the search for these poor sanitation and poor water supply are major drivers in cycles of disease poverty and powerlessness which avoid people in developing nations to escape poverty Sustainable water supply is not only a matter of groundwater and sanitation technical solutions but as much implies tackling major issues concerning hydro social and public health components The African continent has lagged behind other regions in achieving the Millennium Development Goals MDG in water supply and sanitation and continues to be a much neglected water resource This volume disseminates investigations and pointers towards achieving sustainable groundwater supplies in challenging local community environments across the African continent The first part presents the search integrated water sanitation hygiene delivery and best implementation practice The second part through a variety of case studies illustrates the current status and pitfalls that hydrogeologists experience and highlights the relevant challenges that especially Sub Saharan Africa still faces in this battle The chapters present the current situation best practices challenges identified and directions developed by the authors in their advancement towards comprehensive solutions For anyone involved with the development of water supply and sanitation in developing countries Appropriate Technology ,2005 Botswana National Water Master Plan Study ,1991 Ife Research Publications in Geography ,2011 Knowledge Review ,2005 Annual Technical Report of the Geological Survey of South Africa Council for Geoscience (South Africa),1999 Technical Report South Africa.
