Margaret R. Miles, 2018-12-18 Several years before his death Augustine of Hippo reviewed his published works commenting on his purpose in writing each and correcting from his present perspective the mistakes he noticed Inspired by Augustine's Retractationes Miles's Recollections and Reconsiderations undertakes a similar project a critical review of almost fifty years of her publications Rereading and rethinking in chronological order effectively bonds life and thought into a corpus a body of work with consistent values and interests Such a review would be an illuminating project for any longtime scholar student both rewarding and humbling an exercise in self knowledge Informed by a lifetime of studying Christian traditions Miles concludes by describing both endemic problems with Christianity and what she sees is its essence and beauty Aligning Mind and Heart

Mellor Chris Shilling,Professor Chris Shilling,1997-02-14 Enriches the conceptual arsenal for interdisciplinary analysis of political social and cultural change stimulates more nuanced thinking about the cultural and political legacy of the Reformation era manages both to clarify tensions surrounding cultural and social integration in the late 20th century while underscoring the real historical complexity of modern bodies American Journal of Sociology Through an analysis of successive re formations of the body this innovative and penetrating book constructs a fascinating and wide ranging account of how the creation and evolution of different patterns of human community are intimately related to the somatic experience of the sacred The book places the relationship between the embodiment and the sacred at the crux of social theory and casts a fresh light on the emergence and transformation of modernity It critically examines the thesis that the rational projects of modern embodiment have died and gone to cyberspace and suggests that we are witnessing the rise of a virulent effervescent form of the sacred which is changing how people see and keep in touch with the world around them Transforming Bodies and Religions Mariecke van den Berg, 2020-09 This book sheds an interdisciplinary light on transforming bodies bodies that have been subjected to contributed to or have resisted social transformations within religious or secular contexts in contemporary Europe It explores the intersections of race ethnicity gender sexuality and religion that underpin embodied transformations Using post secularist postcolonial and gender queer perspectives it aims to gain a better understanding of the orchestrations and effects of larger social transitions related to religion This volume is the outcome of the intensive collaboration of the authors who for years have been meeting regularly in Utrecht the Netherlands to discuss themes related to religion and the challenge of difference with an added afterword by Prof Pamela Klassen from the University of Toronto The book is divided in three subsections that focus on particular types of embodiment body politics in governmental and NGO organisations the role of the body in literary and or autobiographical narratives and ethnographic case studies of bodies in daily life Doing so it provides an innovative exploration of contemporary religion and the body It will therefore be of great interest to scholars of Religious Studies Gender and Sexuality Studies Post Colonial Studies Anthropology Sociology Theology and Philosophy

Transformational Embodiment in Asian Religions George Pati, Katherine C. Zubko, 2019-10-28 This volume examines several theoretical concerns of embodiment in the context of Asian religious practice Looking at both subtle and spatial bodies it explores how both types of embodiment are engaged as sites for transformation transaction and transgression Collectively bridging ancient and modern conceptualizations of embodiment in religious practice the book offers a complex mapping of how body is defined It revisits more traditional mystical religious systems including Hindu Tantra and Yoga Tibetan Buddhism Bon Chinese Daoism and Persian Sufism and distinctively juxtaposes these inquiries alongside analyses of racial gendered and colonized bodies Such a multifaceted subject requires a diverse approach and so perspectives from phenomenology and neuroscience as well as critical race theory and feminist theology are utilised to create more precise analytical tools for the scholarly engagement of embodied religious epistemologies This a nuanced and interdisciplinary exploration of the myriad issues around bodies within religion As such it will be a key resource for any scholar of Religious

Studies Asian Studies Anthropology Sociology Philosophy and Gender Studies Re-forming the Body Philip A Mellor, Chris Shilling, 1997-05-06 Through an analysis of successive re formations of the body this innovative and penetrating book constructs a fascinating and wide ranging account of how the creation and evolution of different patterns of human community are intimately related to the somatic experience of the sacred The book places the relationship between the embodiment and the sacred at the crux of social theory and casts a fresh light on the emergence and transformation of modernity It critically examines the thesis that the rational projects of modern embodiment have died and gone to cyberspace and suggests that we are witnessing the rise of a virulent effervescent form of the sacred which is changing how people see and keep in touch with t Neo-Spiritual Aesthetics Lina Aschenbrenner, 2024-07-25 Tracing embodied transformation in the context of Gaga the Israeli dance improvisation practice this book demystifies what Lina Aschenbrenner coins as neo spiritual aesthetics This book takes the reader on an analytical journey through a Gaga class outlining the effective aesthetics of Gaga as an example for the broader field of neo spiritualities It distinguishes a threefold effect of Gaga practice from a momentary extraordinary experience to a lasting therapeutic effect and finally Gaga s worldview potential It situates the effect in an assemblage of interrelating aesthetics of environment movement and bodies The book shows why seemingly leisure time activities such as Gaga form fruitful research objects to an academic study of religion and opens up research on neo spiritual practices In understanding the sensory effect of practice and its cultural and social implications the book follows an Aesthetics of Religion approach It departs from the idea that cognition is embodied and that the body is thus central to understanding cultural and social phenomena Drawing upon a wide array of data gathered in the context of Gaga at the Suzanne Dellal Center in Tel Aviv the book weaves together different methods of discourse ritual movement body knowledge and narrative analysis while acknowledging insights from neuroscience and cognitive science Being the body of Christ Anne Marie Hillman, 2017 Shameful Bodies Michelle Mary Lelwica, 2017-01-12 What happens when your body doesn t look how it s supposed to look or feel how it s supposed to feel or do what it s supposed to do Who or what defines the ideals behind these expectations How can we challenge them and live more peacefully in our bodies Shameful Bodies Religion and the Culture of Physical Improvement explores these questions by examining how traditional religious narratives and modern philosophical assumptions come together in the construction and pursuit of a better body in contemporary western societies Drawing on examples from popular culture such as self help books magazines and advertisements Michelle Mary Lelwica shows how these narratives and assumptions encourage us to go to war against our bodies to fight fat triumph over disability conquer chronic pain and illness and defy aging Through an ethic of conquest and conformity the culture of physical improvement trains us not only to believe that all bodily processes are under our control but to feel ashamed about those parts of our flesh that refuse to comply with the cultural ideal Lelwica argues that such shame is not a natural response to being fat physically impaired chronically sick or old Rather body shame is a religiously and culturally conditioned reaction to a commercially fabricated fantasy of physical perfection While Shameful Bodies critiques the religious and cultural norms and narratives that perpetuate external and internalized judgment and aggression toward shameful bodies it also engages the resources of religions especially feminist theologies and Buddhist thought practice to construct a more affirming approach to health and healing an approach that affirms the diversity fragility interdependence and impermanence of embodied life Our Unforming Cindy S Lee,2022-12-15 In Our Unforming De Westernizing Spiritual Formation Cindy S Lee proposes that the church needs to reimagine spiritual formation to unform the ways Western dominated church leaders have understood formation and to create a more robust spirituality one that will hold the complexities of a multicultural God and the God human relationship
