If All the World Were Paper Tyler W. Williams, 2024-10-01 How do writing and literacy reshape the ways a language and its literature are imagined If All the World Were Paper explores this question in the context of Hindi the most widely spoken language in Southern Asia and the fourth most widely spoken language in the world today Emerging onto the literary scene of India in the mid fourteenth century the vernacular of Hindi quickly acquired a place alongside classical languages like Sanskrit and Persian as a medium of literature and scholarship The material and social processes through which it came to be written down and the particular form that it took as illustrated storybooks loose leaf textbooks personal notebooks and holy scriptures played a critical role in establishing Hindi as a language capable of transmitting poetry erudition and even revelation If All the World Were Paper combines close readings of literary and scholastic works with an examination of hundreds of handwritten books from precolonial India to tell the story of Hindi literature s development and reveal the relationships among ideologies of writing material practices and literary genres Tyler W Williams forcefully argues for a new approach to the literary archive demonstrating how the ways books were inscribed organized and used can tell us as much about their meaning and significance as the texts within them This book sets out a novel program for engaging with the archive of Hindi and of South Asian languages more broadly at a moment when much of that archive faces existential threats
