Essential Motorcycle Builder Guide Cuthred E a Ivar,2023-11-03 Wouldn't it be great to build motorcycles for a living I'm guessing the thought has crossed your mind while working on your own bike It's kind of like saying Wouldn't it be great to climb Mount Everest Of course it would depending on your tolerance for discomfort and even disaster In the few years that Classified Moto has been my livelihood I've experienced highs and lows I've felt pride joy fear and camaraderie Plus the occasional overwhelming urge to punch someone square in the face Through it all I've learned without a doubt that I'm an expert on nothing Ironically this is probably the most valuable knowledge I've acquired More on that later But full disclosure here If you get the chance to appear on Bike EXIF take it If you want a shot at building a successful motorcycle business I believe you need three traits Creativity flexibility and enthusiasm All three And although we're talking about bike building these traits probably apply to any form of self employment And life in general Conventional wisdom says to run a successful custom bike company you need to be an amazing craftsman a world class welder a master mechanic and so on I disagree Like it or not the skills you need to build a motorcycle are not the same ones you need to make a living from building motorcycles Today you need a vision and the social graces to get good people on board people who can help you execute that vision It should be your goal to spend your time doing what you do best and delegate the rest to specialists who do it better than you do If you are creative flexible and enthusiastic chances are you can round up a set of top notch craftsmen to help get the builds done And then other talented folks to help you convey what you re doing to the public by building your brand There s a bit of a notion afoot that building a brand for your business somehow makes you a poser If you are going to build your own business one day be careful before you join the bashing You ll be forced to eat crow And you might also have to ask for advice from the successful posers you mocked to begin with Yes if you re going to attempt to make a living at this you re going to have to market yourself in some way And do it as well as or better than you can weld sew tune carbs or pull wheelies Building a brand might seem easy but it s not just a logo design It requires a lot of knowledge and an instinctive feel for stuff you might not want anything to do with The most interesting thing It forces you to see your work from the public s perspective You know how awesome you are no doubt But if you re having a hard time convincing the masses of that fact or even a few well heeled clients your bottom line will suffer Start by figuring out what you bring to the table Are you an order taker a dictator a trendsetter a copycat an asshole or an unbridled artist Are your bikes easily recognizable Are you filling a unique demand of some sort People need a reason to get excited about what you re trying to sell So Will you find something that you can be excited about as well and make that the basis of your brand Let get started      American Motorcyclist ,1958-07 American Motorcyclist magazine the official journal of the American Motorcyclist Associaton tells the stories of the people who make motorcycling the sport that it is It s available monthly to AMA members Become a part of the largest most diverse and most enthusiastic group of riders in the country by visiting our website or calling 800 AMA JOIN      The Unofficial Guide to Building Your Business in the Second Life Virtual World Sue Martin Mahar,Jay Mahar,2009 Why market and sell to people only in the real world when there s a second life filled with unlimited possibilities for profit      American Motorcyclist ,1999-09 American Motorcyclist magazine the official journal of the American Motorcyclist Associaton tells the stories of the people who make motorcycling the sport that it is It s available monthly to AMA members Become a part of the largest most diverse and most enthusiastic group of riders in the country by visiting our website or calling 800 AMA JOIN      American Motorcyclist ,1994-02 American Motorcyclist magazine the official journal of the American Motorcyclist Associaton tells the stories of the people who make motorcycling the sport that it is It s available monthly to AMA members Become a part of the largest most diverse and most enthusiastic group of riders in the country by visiting our website or calling 800 AMA JOIN      Popular Mechanics ,1941-11 Popular Mechanics inspires instructs and
