Heater control panel

24 Remove the driver's side facia lower trim panels, the glovebox, and the gear lever surround panel, as described in Chapter 11, Section 27.

25 On models without air conditioning, or with 'non-climate' or 'manual' air conditioning (identifiable by not having AUTO on the controls), trace the air distribution and temperature cables down to the base of the heater unit, and disconnect them from their operating levers. One cable runs down on each side of the heater unit.

26 Remove the two screws at the base of the panel, visible from the front. Then, working through the openings on either side of the facia centre panel, remove the panel securing bolt on either side (see illustrations).

27 The centre panel is now secured by several clips all around its edges. If possible, start to free the panel by pushing it from behind. When the panel is free, disconnect the wiring plugs from the back – these will include (depending on model) the radio unit wiring, aerial lead, fan switch plug and climate control wiring connectors (see illustrations). Withdraw the panel, noting the routing of the two control cables which will still be attached (where applicable).

9.22f Removing the blower motor housing

9.26a Remove the two screws at the front ...

9.26b ... then each side retaining screw must be removed ...

9.26c ... by working through the glovebox aperture ...
