Comprehensive Supramolecular Chemistry II George W. Gokel, Len Barbour, 2017-06-22 Comprehensive Supramolecular Chemistry II Second Edition Nine Volume Set is a one stop shop that covers supramolecular chemistry a field that originated from the work of researchers in organic inorganic and physical chemistry with some biological influence The original edition was structured to reflect in part the origin of the field However in the past two decades the field has changed a great deal as reflected in this new work that covers the general principles of supramolecular chemistry and molecular recognition experimental and computational methods in supramolecular chemistry supramolecular receptors dynamic supramolecular chemistry supramolecular engineering crystallographic engineered assemblies sensors imaging agents devices and the latest in nanotechnology Each section begins with an introduction by an expert in the field who offers an initial perspective on the development of the field Each article begins with outlining basic concepts before moving on to more advanced material Contains content that begins with the basics before moving on to more complex concepts making it suitable for advanced undergraduates as well as academic researchers Focuses on application of the theory in practice with particular focus on areas that have gained increasing importance in the 21st century including nanomedicine nanotechnology and medicinal chemistry Fully rewritten to make a completely up to date reference work that covers all the major advances that have taken place since the First Edition published in 1996 Quarterly Journal of the Chemical Society of London Chemical Society (Great Britain), 1960 Modern Mathematics Dirk De Bock, 2023-03-08 The international New Math developments between about 1950 through 1980 are regarded by many mathematics educators and education historians as the most historically important development in curricula of the twentieth century It attracted the attention of local and international politicians of teachers and of parents and influenced the teaching and learning of mathematics at all levels kindergarten to college graduate in many nations After garnering much initial support it began to attract criticism But as Bill Jacob and the late Jerry Becker show in Chapter 17 some of the effects became entrenched This volume edited by Professor Dirk De Bock of Belgium provides an outstanding overview of the New Math modern mathematics movement Chapter authors provide exceptionally high quality analyses of the rise of the movement and of subsequent developments within a range of nations The first few chapters show how the initial leadership came from mathematicians in European nations and in the United States of America The background leaders in Europe were Caleb Gattegno and members of a mysterious group of mainly French pure mathematicians who since the 1930s had published under the name of a fictitious Nicolas Bourbaki In the United States there emerged during the 1950s various attempts to improve U S mathematics curricula and teaching especially in secondary schools and colleges This side of the story climaxed in 1957 when the Soviet Union succeeded in launching Sputnik the first satellite Undoubtedly this is a landmark publication in education The foreword was written by

Professor Bob Moon one of a few other scholars to have written on the New Math from an international perspective The final epilogue chapter by Professor Geert Vanpaemel a historian draws together the overall thrust of the volume and makes links with the general history of curriculum development especially in science education including recent globalization trends
