Integrated Transport Moshe Givoni, David Banister, 2010-07-02 Travel is an essential part of everyday life and today most journeys are multimodal It is the total travel experience that counts and integrated transport must reduce the inconvenience of transfers between modes Most research and many publications on transport policy advocate sustainable transport but the priority given to integration has been negligible Yet integration is one of the most important means to advance sustainable transport and sustainability more generally While integrated transport systems are seen to be an ideal there is a failure to make the transition from policy to practice The authors argue that the achievement of sustainable transport is still a dream as an integrated transport policy is a prerequisite for a sustainable transport system It is only when the two concepts of sustainability and integration operate in the same direction and in a positive way that real progress can be made In this book transportation experts from across the world have addressed the questions about what is integration why is it so important and why is it so hard to achieve The book provides an in depth analysis of these issues and it aims to provide a better understanding of the subject about what should be strived for about what is realistic to expect and about how to move forward towards a more integrated provision of transport infrastructure services and management

Behavioral Models and Characteristics of Bicycle-automobile Mixed-traffic Dean Brantley Taylor, Hani S. Mahmassani, 1998 This report addresses an important need for fundamental understanding of bicycle-automobile mixed traffic It presents models of 1 gap acceptance behavior and 2 bicyclist behavior at the onset of a yellow traffic signal indication in addition to analysis of 3 coordinating traffic signals to provide progression for both bicycles and automobiles Fundamental insights into mixed traffic behavior are derived and applied to selected problems in mixed traffic engineering and operations Discrete choice probit models are developed for both motorist and cyclist gap acceptance behavior An important fundamental insight from these models is that both cyclists and motorists require a longer gap when the gap is closed by a large vehicle e.g. bus and both will accept a shorter gap when the gap is closed by a bicycle relative to a gap closed by a passenger car A methodology for determining an adequate clearance interval for bicycles is developed from a deterministic model based on kinematic relations The bicyclists' behavior at the onset of a yellow signal indication are obtained Finally a conceptual foundation consisting of three primary contributions is developed for analyzing bicycle-automobile mixed traffic progression along signalized streets
