

Limitations of Classful Routing Example

Consider the following, slightly altered, example:

We'll assume that RIPv1 is configured correctly on all routers. Notice that our networks are no longer contiguous. Both Router A and Router C contain subnets of the 10.0.0.0 major network (10.1.0.0 and 10.2.0.0 respectively).

Separating these networks now are two Class C subnets (192.168.123.0 and 192.168.111.0).

Why is this a problem? Again, when Router A sends a RIPv1 update to Router B via Serial, it will not include the subnet mask for the 10.1.0.0 network. Instead, Router A will consider itself a border router, as the 10.1.0.0 and 192.168.123.0 networks do not belong to the same major network. Router A will summarize the 10.1.0.0/16 network to its classful boundary of 10.0.0.0/8.

Router B will accept this routing update, and realize that it does not have a directly connected interface in the 10.x.x.x scheme. Thus, it has no subnet mask to apply to this route. Because of this, Router B will install the summarized 10.0.0.0 route into its routing table.

Router C, similarly, will consider itself a border router between networks 10.2.0.0 and 192.168.111.0. Thus, Router C will also send a summarized 10.0.0.0 route to Router B.
