Degressive Episode Guide

Ralph Griffiths, G. E. Griffiths

Degressive Episode Guide:

Writing East Iain Macleod Higgins, 2010-11-24 No work revealed more of the mysterious East to statesmen explorers readers and writers of the late Middle Ages than the Book of John Mandeville One of the most widely circulated documents of its day it first appeared in French between 1356 and 1371 and was soon translated into nine other European languages Ostensibly the account of one English knight's journeys through Africa and Asia it is rather a compilation of travel writings first shaped by an unknown redactor Writing East is a study of how Mandeville's Travels came to appear in its various versions explaining how it went through a series of transformations as it reached new audiences in order to serve as both a response to previous writings about the East and an important voice in the medieval conversation about the nature and limits of the world Higgins offers a palimpsestic reading of this multi text that demonstrates not only how the original French author overwrote his precursors but also how subsequent translators molded the material to serve their own ideological agendas

Woman's Fiction Nina Baym, 1993 This reissue of the pioneering and standard book on antebellum women's domestic novels contains a new introduction situating the book in the context of important recent developments in the study of women's writing Nina Baym considers 130 novels by 48 women focusing on the works of a dozen especially productive and successful writers Woman's Fiction is a major work in nineteenth century literature reexamining changes in the literary canon and the meaning of sentimentalism while responding to current critical discussions of the body in literary texts
