

Advantages include:

- Separate the use of the facilities from the ownership of the facilities.
- Allows private sector to make the tough management decisions (e.g. tolls or reductions).
- Public authority receives stable stream of cash flows without having to manage operations and maintenance of the facilities.

Disadvantages include:

- Responsibility for capital investment remains with the government and no private investment capital is mobilized.
- Private sector cannot improve physical infrastructure on its own as technical know many not be improved much.

Benefits of PPPs for the private sector

1. PPPs give the private sector access to secure, long-term investment opportunities. Private partners can generate business with the relative certainty and security of a government contract. Payment is provided through a contracted fee for service or through the collection of user fees – and the revenue stream may be secure for as long as 50 years or more.

2. Private sector partners can profit from PPPs by achieving efficiencies, based on their managerial, technical and financial and innovation capabilities. They can also expand their PPPs capacity and expertise – or their expertise in a particular sector – which can then be leveraged to create additional business opportunities. For example, the company can market its experience in other jurisdictions, once it has established a track record of working successfully with the public sector in Nigeria.

PPPs in other jurisdictions : In other jurisdictions, PPPs have been used to develop large transportation infrastructure projects, including roads, railways, transit systems, seaports and airports. They have also been used in the transportation, power, water, wastewater and gas sectors, as well as for asset-based projects in health care, education, corrections and defense. Examples of these include the United Kingdom, Australia, Ireland, the province of British Columbia, Canadian, and India, to mention a few (Moxness et al 2004).

Models of Public-Private Partnerships

The following terms are developed from commonly used terms to describe PPP agreements globally as in Nigeria.

- Design-Build (DB) or “Turnkey” contract: The private sector designs and builds infrastructure to meet public sector performance specifications, often for a fixed price, so the risk of cost overruns is transferred to the private sector. (Many do not consider DBs to be within the spectrum of PPPs).
- Service Provision (e.g., Specific customer services or operation & maintenance) contracts: A private operator, under contract, operates a publicly-owned asset for a specified term. Ownership of the asset remains with the public entity.
- Management contracts: A private entity contracts to manage a Government owned entity and manages the marketing and provision of a service.
- Lease and operate contracts: A private operator contracts to lease and assume all management and operation of a government owned facility and associated services, and may invest further in developing the service and provide the service for a fixed term.
- Design-Build-Finance-Operate (DBFO): The private sector designs, finances and constructs a new facility under a long-term lease, and operates the facility during the term of the lease. The private partner transfers the new facility to the public sector at the end of the lease term.
- Build-Operate-Transfer (BOT): A private entity receives a franchise to finance, design, build and operate a facility (and to charge user fees) for a specified period, after which ownership is transferred back to the public sector. This has been used in telecommunications service contracts.
- Buy-Build-Operate (BBO): Transfer of a public asset to a private or quasi-public entity usually under contract that the assets are to be upgraded and operated for a specified period of time. Public control is exercised through the contract at the time of transfer.
- Build-Own-Operate (BOO): The private sector finances, builds, owns and operates a facility or service in perpetuity. The public commitments are stated in the original agreement and through on-going regulatory obligations.
- Build-Own-Operate & Transfer (BOOT): The Private Sector builds, owns, operates a facility for a specified period as agreed in the contract and then transfers to the Public.
