same results completely regained health along with substantial weight loss He left his position as a cardiothoracic professor and department chair to build a new career advocating this new found knowledge The premise of the program is simple Human genes evolved over time to make certain specific interpretations about you based on the foods that you consume Your genes 1 objective is to preserve and propagate the species and you are either helping that endeavor or you re hindering it The foods you eat meanwhile act like keys that unlock certain codes in your genes Just like the Internet is vast and essentially limitless in what you can do with it your genes hold nearly infinite possibility And just like typing an address into a Web browser which tells your computer where specifically to go the food you eat tells your genes what specifically to do The modern diet sends messages to your genes that indicate that you are interfering with the continuation of the species Consequently your genes unleash killer processes that cause you to deteriorate more quickly By reversing your diet backward in time so that it more closely resembles that of our early ancestors you can send new signals to your genetic autopilot that shuts down those killer processes and turns on life giving processes The Diet Evolution is a three phase program that gradually transitions you from a modern diet to a largely plant based raw diet Dr. Gundry's Diet Evolution
