

Dräger REGARD-1 Control System

The Dräger REGARD-1 is a standalone, self contained single channel control system for the detection of Toxic, Oxygen and Ex hazards. The control system is fully configurable for a single input from either a 4 to 20 mA transmitter or a Dräger Polytron SE Ex measuring head.

The robust IP 65 housing allows the control system to be installed in almost any location, excluding hazardous, classified areas¹. Developed with an innovative modular design ensures that the entire system is suitable for the most stringent of budgets.

For those application where primary protection is required the Dräger REGARD-1 control system is fully certified under the ATEX Directive against EN 61779-1/4/5 and EN 50104, for Ex detection and Oxygen detection respectively. Independent testing against EN 45544 is also achieved for Toxic detection.

When installed, the Dräger REGARD-1 control system offers three gas alarm thresholds which are fully flexible in the way of rising or falling and latching or non-latching. Supporting the alarm relays are high intensity LEDs on the front panel which either flash to show a new alarm condition, remain steady to show an acknowledged alarm condition or extinguish to show a non alarm condition. The gas concentration is continuously displayed on a large LCD display. An internal buzzer sounds when a gas or fault condition exists to draw the attention of local personnel. To support either a transmitter or control system fault a fail-safe fault relay is provided. A high intensity LED supports the fault relay and flashes to show a new fault condition, remains steady to show an acknowledged fault condition or extinguishes to show a healthy condition.

The Dräger REGARD-1 control system offers additional input/output modules which offer a repeat 4 to 20 mA signal, TWA alarm threshold coupled with a TWA alarm relay and a data/event logger². During a maintenance or service routine an inhibit relay is provided to allow remote indication that the gas detection control system is off-line.

The enclosure of the Dräger REGARD-1 control system is designed to house two 1.2 AH batteries which support the control system during a mains power failure. The duration of the battery back-up is dependant on the type of transmitter used and is estimated between 30 minutes and 2 hours in a non-alarm condition.
