

Since Castaneda's figure only shows the volume you and I know isn't it still like a statue of the, Plaster

In this drawing Castaneda shows you how an artist thinks of the figure in terms of simple forms. He had thought to study the front and side planes and the top and down planes. He has shown a light from the left and from above. Then, if we say only for this to put shade on the side and down planes. If he had drawn perfectly like the figure and put the same light and shade on them, they would have looked very well.

Even in this study the figure, Castaneda will show his unswerving training. The line (1) suggests the top of the torso.

There is another principle easily illustrated here. As the artist views his attention from one side the form to another, he notes the direction of each form. In other words, objects have only in direction such as such.
