World-radio; the BBC Foreign Programme Journal, 1938 Daily Mirror Holborn Circus, 1975-07-18 Drowning by Accident Elizabeth Meinhard, 2022-02-15 Drowning By Accident explains why it is so easy to drown where accidents happen and how to save lives by early rescue and resuscitation More than 600 people die by drowning in Britain every year Swimming is promoted as a particularly safe form of exercise so that swimmers forget or ignore the dangers of frigid lakes swollen rivers incoming tides or outgoing rip currents Drowning accidents take place because we don't recognise water as a hostile environment We overestimate the strength and endurance of our bodies and underestimate the power and deceptiveness of water Year after year victims lose their lives in typical drowning accidents often sinking so quickly and silently that nearby family friends and onlookers fail to notice the tragedy taking place close beside them Babies drown in baths Toddlers drown in garden ponds School children fall off rafts Teenagers strike too far from the shore Pensioners wade into rivers to save their dogs Victims often die within minutes of sinking beneath the surface A quarter of those who reach hospital alive will also die while others survive with severe permanent brain damage This means that it is vitally important for parents grandparents teachers lifeguards and lawmakers to recognise the risks and prevent drowning accidents before they take place BBC Wildlife, 2003 Willing's Press Guide and Advertisers' Directory and Handbook, 1999

Goldsmith, 2012-12-06 The international perspective for this book is the unprecedented level of concern over deforestation recognized by the meeting of world leaders at the 1992 Earth Summit in Rio de Janeiro and culminating in the appointment of the Intergovernmental Panel on Forests IPF under the auspices of the UN Commission on Sustainable Development The wide range of issues covered by the authors in this volume reflects the breadth of the international debate from national policies and activist campaigning through economic and social objectives to the sustainable management of forest and soil resources Since the conservation campaigns of the 1980s the focus of international concern has widened from tropical rain forests to all forest formations in all regions with increased recognition of global values and common responsibilities However while forest cover in some temperate countries is increasing irrational deforestation at historically unprecedented levels of damage to biodiversity and to other environmental values remains most acute in tropical countries where the need to use the natural resources for sustainable development is greatest and the capability weakest While accepting the urgency of the situation and the need for greater coherence of action at a global level the 1997 report of the IPF to the UN Commission emphasized the powers and responsibilities of national governments and the importance of National Forest Programmes but with the fuller participation of local communities and with enhanced access to international assistance Parliamentary Debates (Hansard).
