Climate Change Ethics And Human Security:

Climate Change, Ethics and Human Security Karen O'Brien, Asunción Lera St. Clair, Berit Kristoffersen, 2010-07-22 Presenting human security perspectives on climate change this volume raises issues of equity ethics and environmental justice as well as our capacity to respond to what is increasingly considered to be the greatest societal challenge for humankind Written by international experts it argues that climate change must be viewed as an issue of human security and not an environmental problem that can be managed in isolation from larger questions concerning development trajectories and ethical obligations towards the poor and to future generations The concept of human security offers a new approach to the challenges of climate change and the responses that could lead to a more equitable and sustainable future Climate Change Ethics and Human Security will be of interest to researchers policy makers and practitioners concerned with the human dimensions of climate change as well as to upper level students in the social sciences and humanities interested in climate change

Climate Change, Ethics and Human Security Karen O'Brien, 2010 Approaches climate change as an issue of human security and ethical obligation arguing for a more equitable and sustainable future Handbook on Climate Change and Human Security Michael R Redclift, Marco Grasso, 2013-10-31 The Handbook is international in scope and provides an assessment that will be of value to academics students and policy professionals alike NGOs and policy institutes which need a grasp of the specificity and range of the issues and problems will all

A Changing Environment for Human Security Linda Sygna, Karen O'Brien, Johanna Wolf, 2013-06-26 Environmental change presents a new context and new opportunities for transformational change This timely book will inspire new ways of understanding the relationship between environmental change and human security A Changing Environment for Human Security Transformative Approaches to Research Policy and Action both supports and informs a call for new transformative approaches to research policy and action The chapters in this book include critical analyses case studies and reflections on contemporary environmental and social challenges with a strong emphasis on those related to climate change Human thoughts and actions have contributed to an environment of insecurity manifested as multiple interacting threats that now represent a serious challenge to humanity Yet humans also have the capacity to collectively transform the economic political social and cultural systems and structures that perpetuate human insecurities These fresh perspectives on global environmental change from an interdisciplinary group of international experts will inspire readers whether students researchers policy makers or practitioners to think differently about environmental issues and sustainability The contributions show that in a changing environment human security is not only a possibility but a choice

Ecological Security Matt McDonald, 2021-09-23 Climate change is increasingly recognised as a security issue Yet this recognition belies contestation over what security means and whose security is viewed as threatened Different accounts here defined as discourses of security range from those focused on national sovereignty to those emphasising the vulnerability of human populations This book examines the ethical assumptions and implications of these climate security discourses ultimately making a case for moving beyond the protection of human institutions and collectives Drawing on insights from political ecology feminism and critical theory Matt McDonald suggests the need to focus on the resilience of ecosystems themselves when approaching the climate security relationship orienting towards the most vulnerable across time space and species The book outlines the ethical assumptions and contours of ecological security before exploring how it might find purchase in contemporary political contexts A shift in this direction could not be more urgent given the current climate crisis Justice, Sustainability, and Security E. Heinze, 2013-07-17

Justice Sustainability and Security not only enhances our knowledge of these issues but it teases out our moral dimensions and offer prescriptions for how governments and global actors might craft their policies to better consider their effects on the global human condition Sustainability, Capabilities and Human Security Andrew Crabtree, 2020-02-28

Amartya Sen and Martha Nussbaum have made major contributions to development studies and social philosophy yet sustainability issues have largely remained outside their domain despite sustainability's significance and complex relation to their central value of freedom This volume explores sustainability from a capabilities perspective with the motif of human security inviting a lively discussion within the human development family After introducing the two approaches authors conceptualize relationships between capabilities and the environment examine the scientific and normative validity of environmental indicators and analyse intergenerational justice Climate change is used to exemplify that a human security approach can add an explanatory ontology to the ethical criticisms of contemporary ways of life that champion consumerism That ontology recognizes shared life experiences problems and life challenges a community of fate The volume ends with a discussion of how the approaches can inform and sometimes critique the Sustainable Development Goals Climate Change, Migration, and Human Security in Southeast Asia Lorraine M. Elliott, 2012 Safeguarding Human Progress Khalid Malik, 2014

This publication notes that the most effective policies for supporting human development and reducing vulnerabilities are those that incorporate principles of universalism by placing people at the centre of policy Responding to life cycle and structural vulnerabilities through social investments and policy interventions deliver long term benefits by reducing vulnerabilities at critical life phases and mitigating structural disadvantage faced by discriminated groups in society Yet the emerging challenges and risks posed by vulnerability given the backdrop of globalisation require a concerted approach and collective action that will measure up to the scale of these shared challenges In building this argument this companion volume to the 2014 Human Development Report draws on research commissioned from eminent economists demographers and social scientists Global Environmental Change and Human Security Richard A. Matthew, Jon Barnett, Bryan McDonald, Karen L. O'Brien, 2009-10-09

Experts discuss the risks global environmental change poses for the human security including disaster and disease violence and increasing inequity In recent years scholars in international relations and other fields have begun to conceive of security more broadly moving away from a state centered concept of national security toward the idea of human security which emphasizes the individual and human well being Viewing global environmental change through the lens of human security connects such problems as melting ice caps and carbon emissions to poverty vulnerability equity and conflict This book examines the complex social health and economic consequences of environmental change across the globe In chapters that are both academically rigorous and policy relevant the book discusses the connections of global environmental change to urban poverty natural disasters with a case study of Hurricane Katrina violent conflict with a study of the decade long Nepalese civil war population gender and development The book makes clear the inadequacy of traditional understandings of security and shows how global environmental change is raising new unavoidable questions of human insecurity conflict cooperation and sustainable development Contributors W Neil Adger Jennifer Bailey Jon Barnett Victoria Basolo Hans Georg Bohle Mike Brklacich May Chazan Chris Cocklin Geoffrey D Dabelko Indra de Soysa Heather Goldsworthy Betsy Hartmann Robin M Leichenko Laura Little Alexander L pez Richard A Matthew Bryan McDonald Eric Neumayer Kwasi Nsiah Gyabaah Karen L O'Brien Marvin S Soroos Bishnu Raj Upreti Environment and Human Security Purusottam Bhattacharya, Sugata Hazra, 2003 Contributed papers presented earlier at a seminar

Climate Change and Arctic Security Lassi Heininen, Heather Exner-Pirot, 2019-07-30 This book assesses the construction of security in the context of climate change with a focus on the Arctic region It examines and discusses changes in the security premises of the Arctic states from traditional security to environmental and human security In particular the book explores how climate change impacts security discourses and premises as well as theoretically discussing the possibility for another change from circumpolar stability into peaceful change Chapters cover topics such as the ethics of climate change in the arctic China's emerging power and influence on arctic climate security the discursive transformation of the definition of security and the intersection between urban climate and Arctic studies The book concludes with the question of whether a paradigm shift in our understanding of traditional security is possible and whether it is already occurring in the Arctic Environmental Ethics in Managing Resources in the Asia Pacific Ravichandran Moorthy, Darryl Raymond Johnson Macer, 2013 Globalization and Security G. Honor Fagan, 2009 Broad in scope this two volume set covers the economic and political aspects of globalization as well as its social and cultural impacts UNU Strategic Plan 2002 United Nations University, 2002 A Moral Climate Michael S.
