

Compare and Contrast Essay Structure

Introduction	Introduce the essay with a hook that demonstrates relevance of the essay to the reader. Introduce the items being compared and outline your essay structure.
	Thesis Statement: Don't forget to state your thesis statement in the introduction. For a compare and contrast essay, you may make a value judgement about which item is best for a certain circumstance.
Orientation	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Define your two items/concepts that are to be analyzed• Explain the context of your discussion• Delve deeper into the definition of each, explaining aspects or details about the concepts to help the reader understand them more.
Feature 1 Feature 2 Feature 3	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Select features that can be compared between the two items (e.g. size, quality, etc.)• Explore similarities• Explore differences• Make value judgements about the differences between the items that is consistent with your thesis statement
Evaluation	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Sum up your key points and make an overall value judgement or argument about the two concepts, e.g. "Based upon the above information, it is clear that oranges are better than apples because..."
Conclusion	Close the loop by returning to a statement you made in the introduction. Show what your final position is. Explain who should be interested in your findings. End by noting in one final, engaging sentence why this topic is of such importance.

Readers' Guide to Periodical Literature ,1915 Letters and Communities Paola Ceccarelli,Lutz Doering,Thorsten Fögen,Ingo Gildenhard,2018-08-16 The writing of letters often evokes associations of a single author and a single addressee who share in the exchange of intimate thoughts across distances of space and time This model underwrites such iconic notions as the letter representing an image of the soul of the author or constituting one half of a dialogue However justified this conception of letter writing may be in particular instances it tends to marginalize a range of issues that were central to epistolary communication in the ancient world and have yet to receive sustained and systematic investigation In particular it overlooks the fact that letters frequently presuppose and were designed to reinforce communities or indeed to constitute them in the first place This volume explores the interrelation of letters and communities in the ancient world examining how epistolary communication aided in the construction and cultivation of group identities and communities whether social political religious ethnic or philosophical A theoretically informed Introduction establishes the interface of epistolary discourse and group formation as a vital but hitherto neglected area of research and is followed by thirteen case studies offering multi disciplinary perspectives from four key cultural configurations Greece Rome Judaism and Christianity The first part opens the volume with two chapters on the theory and practice of epistolary communication that focus on ancient epistolary theory and the unavoidable presence of a letter carrier who introduces a communal aspect into any correspondence while the second comprises five chapters that explore configurations of power and epistolary communication in the Greek and Roman worlds from the archaic period to the end of the Hellenistic age Five chapters on letters and communities in Ancient Judaism and Early Christianity follow in the third part before the volume concludes with an envoi examining the trans historical or indeed timeless philosophical community Seneca the Younger construes in his Letters to Lucilius
