

5 Points of Darwin's Natural Selection

Read the following situations below and identify the 5 points of Darwin's natural selection.

- 10) There are 2 types of worms: worms that eat at night (nocturnal) and worms that eat during the day (diurnal). The birds eat during the day and seem to be eating ONLY the diurnal worms. The nocturnal worms are in their burrows during this time. Each spring when the worms reproduce, they have about 500 babies but only 100 of these 500 ever become old enough to reproduce.

- a. What worm has natural selection selected AGAINST? diurnal worms FOR? nocturnal worms

- b. Darwin's 5 points: identify the 5 points in the scenario above.

Population has variations. There are 2 types of worms in the area diurnal and nocturnal.

Some variations are favorable. birds do not eat nocturnal worms, nocturnal worms advantage

More offspring are produced than survive. 500 of the original 500 worms survive to reproduce

Those that survive have favorable traits. Many nocturnal worms survive and reproduce

A population will change over time. Nocturnal worm population increases, diurnal worm population decreases

- 20) There are 3 types of polar bears: ones with thick coats, ones with thin coats and ones with medium coats. It is fall, soon to be winter. The temperatures are dropping rapidly and the bears must be kept warm, or they will freeze to death. Many of the bears have had 2 cubs each but due to the extreme temperatures, many mothers only have one cub left.

- a. What bear will natural selection select AGAINST? thin coats FOR? thick coats

- b. Darwin's 5 points: identify the 5 points in the scenario above.

Population has variations. There are 3 types of bears, thick, medium, and thin coats

Some variations are favorable. Thick coats provide warmth to survive, thick coat advantage

More offspring are produced than survive. Half of the total cubs have survived

Those that survive have favorable traits. Bears with thicker coats have a higher survival rate

A population will change over time. Survival rate of bears with thicker coats rises, population of bears with thin coats will gradually decrease

Charles Darwin's Natural Selection Charles Darwin,1975-03-20 Charles Darwin s On the Origin of Species is unquestionably one of the chief landmarks in biology The Origin as it is widely known was literally only an abstract of the manuscript Darwin had originally intended to complete and publish as the formal presentation of his views on evolution Compared with the Origin his original long manuscript work on Natural Selection which is presented here and made available for the first time in printed form has more abundant examples and illustrations of Darwin s argument plus an extensive citation of sources Journal of Soil and Water Conservation ,1999 Vol 25 no 1 contains the society s Lincoln Chapter s Resource conservation glossary On Evolution Charles Darwin,1996-01-01 Offers an introduction that presents Darwin s theory This title includes excerpts from Darwin s correspondence commenting on the work in question and its significance impact and reception Charles Darwin's Natural Selection Charles Darwin,1995-12-22 On the Origin of Species Charles Darwin,2009-06-01 Darwin consolidated a lifetime of work in On the Origin of Species compiling his discoveries from the voyage of the Beagle his experiments research and correspondence He argues for the transmutation of species over time by the process of natural selection His work laid the foundation of evolutionary biology though when it was published it caused tremendous religious and philosophical debates Darwin s work is still seen by many people to oppose Christian beliefs On the Origin of Species Annotated Book with Teacher Edition Charles Darwin,2020-08-22 Darwin addresses some of the flaws in his theory of natural selection He tackles two major questions First if species have gradually descended from other species why do clearly defined separate species exist instead of numerous intermediate forms of species Second can natural selection really produce highly complex organs such as the eye from species lacking anything remotely similar to such complex organs To answer the first question Darwin argues that natural selection requires that intermediate varieties become extinct Since natural selection urges species to become perfectly adapted to their environments certain environments favor some characteristics and other environments favor others allowing species to diverge based on their separate environments The favored characteristics in these respective environments would become more advantageous than any intermediate characteristics causing the intermediate species to become extinct Darwin addresses the question of whether an intermediate species would exist in an intermediate geological area between the two different environments He argues that intermediate environments are so geographically small that intermediate species in those areas would not be able to reproduce sufficiently to perpetuate themselves and survive and would eventually become extinct Therefore we only see small numbers of intermediate species in these intermediate geographical zones Darwin is not as confident about the answer to his second question as he is about the answer to his first He admits that it is difficult to explain how new structures such as the wings of a bat are created when a species descends from one that lacks such structures He does give examples from other species in which modifications develop from existing structures instead of sprouting anew such as the species of flying squirrels with broad tails that allow them to parachute through the air a tail modified from existing tails in other squirrel species He also explains that scientists are unable to see a clear line of organ modification because of gaps in the development of these structures for example squirrel tails that are not yet fully adapted for flying These gaps come about when the intermediate species have become extinct Examples of explainable models such as the flying squirrel s tail can help an observer imagine the development of more complex organs such as the wings of the bat or the eye Over time gradual developments of structures and nerves become more complex with modifications until finally the most perfect eye organ develops Darwin compares the eye to a telescope Over time and through its development the telescope has become more and more advanced replacing older versions While the mechanism of change for the telescope is technological advancement for the eye it is natural selection
