

In the Koala classroom we regularly read two books by the same author and illustrator, often featuring the same characters, theme, or concept. We then discuss the similarities and differences between the two. When children actively compare and contrast two books they use their observation and language skills to express what they notice about the story, plot, characters, and illustrations. Children practice comparative thinking, increase comprehension, develop higher order thinking skills, strengthen memories, and develop habits of mind when they compare and contrast through reflection and discussion.
