transmitted fixed length text file is of 2 Mbytes of information. Static tests have evidenced that as the packet size grows from 64 to 2000 characters, the user throughput grows from about 500 bps to 4100 bps respectively

A TF is a text file in which all data coming from or characters are included (XON/XOFF flow control is omitted). The recording format is: "timestamp, symbol, line of characters". The timestamp format is HH:MM:SS:CC, (hours, minutes, seconds, hundredths of a second); it indicates the time at which the immediately following recorded line has been received or transmitted. It is followed by a character, indicating the direction of the recorded data, which is the sign ">" for data going from the MS to the FH and the sign "<" for the reverse direction. Finally, the line of characters to which both timestamp and the direction sign refer is recorded. All data related to the establishment of the connection with FH as well as to the proper file transfer are stored in the trace file: commands issued to the modem, connection retries when the line is busy, messages of established connection and relative speed, messages related to logging in the computers along the way from MS to FH among them; auxiliary information to better understand the structure of the file is also included. A section of a trace file related to the beginning of the file transfer is shown in figure 6: After kermit has been started, the server mode is activated; then in the first 8 lines some preliminary messages are exchanged between MS and FH to tune the applications running on them for transfer to be carried on. Following these operations, the file begins to be transferred using a predefined packet length (in the example the packet length is 64 characters) and recorded in the presented format. The line repeatedly presented in the example is a packet with related header and trailer, clearly distinguishable in the trace file.

Each trace file is recorded by programme TP with different file names (trace $_{xx}$, where xx is the progressive number of the file transmission) for each different file transmission. timeout. This segment is interpreted as a corrupted packet, and a Retransmission Request (RR) of the same packet is sent. A new packet is thus queued along the VP with the
