Tomorrow's High School Gene Bottoms, 2022-04-11 How do some high schools produce graduates that consistently achieve at high levels Would you believe there s a set of proven strategies that could help you deliver similar impressive results and better prepare students for the world after high school High schools in the United States face a startling reality many graduates are unprepared for success in postsecondary studies or for high demand well paying jobs in a rapidly changing economy Although this situation is alarming the high schools that have embraced new ways of learning show us what is possible Drawing from his experience with the High Schools That Work initiative Gene Bottoms offers educators a path forward by urging them to pursue bold goals and outlining bold actions for achieving those goals His vision is clear replace the traditional model of secondary education with one that engages students in a rigorous curriculum that combines a solid academic core with intellectually demanding career pathway courses The notion that nearly all students can achieve at high levels is borne out by numerous examples of high schools including those with traditionally underperforming student populations that have used key strategies to help all students realize their potential Bottoms explains the root causes of the current shortcomings in high school education and then specifies critical components of successful transformation Shared leadership Powerful assignments especially in math literacy and career technical education planned and executed by academic and career pathway teachers working together Strengthened connections between middle school and high school A redesigned senior year and Comprehensive counseling and advisory programs Provocative and persuasive in its sense of urgency Tomorrow s High School offers proven and practical solutions to finally make high schools a rich and rewarding experience for all students whatever their future college and career goals may be This book is a copublication of ASCD and SREB It includes access to nine downloadable appendixes

Improving Schools from the Bottom Up Patrick M. Shields, 1995 This document presents findings of a national study of effective schools programs and other school based reforms conducted during school year 1991 92 The reforms were broadly defined to encompass school site improvement efforts designed to develop schoolwide capacity for problem solving to improve teaching and to increase student learning Data were obtained from a survey of a nationally representative sample of local school districts n 1 555 surveys of administrators in all state education agencies and intensive case studies of 5 states 16 districts and 32 schools Data from the district survey show that school based reform was relatively widespread occurring at all school levels The case study data suggest that change efforts varied widely across districts and schools The study examined the degree to which the reform effort involved meaningful collaboration among school staff staff ownership of the change process a focus on teaching and curriculum building professional capacity among staff and a focus on student outcomes and equity The case study data suggest that the more promising examples of school based reform often shared a set of characteristics a clear focus on creating more challenging learning experiences for all students a school culture in which teachers worked collaboratively and had a voice in decision making and opportunities for faculty development The following recommendations are made for supporting promising reform efforts 1 find a balance between top down and bottom up structures 2 adapt leadership and vision at every level of the system 3 build local capacity building systems 4 devolve some authority to school staff and 5 clearly tie government mandates and requirements to learning goals A total of 32 tables and 1 figure are included
