Common Test June 2013 Business Studies Memo:

Film Policy in a Globalised Cultural Economy John Hill, Nobuko Kawashima, 2018-12-07 The past two decades have witnessed major changes in film industries worldwide in response to both economic globalisation and technological developments The dominant position of Hollywood movies in the global film market has remained largely uncontested but Hollywood itself has become increasingly international in its operations whilst regional screen industries such as those in East Asia and in the Indian subcontinent have re emerged and developed new forms of collaboration The advent of digital technologies has also transformed the content of films and the ways in which they are made and consumed Such changes in turn have posed new economic and cultural challenges for policy makers around the world and led to a degree of rethinking of how film policy objectives are to be conceived defined and implemented This collection brings together a range of international scholars from the USA Europe and Asia to consider how film policy has responded to the various economic technological and political shifts shaping the global film industry and to identify the many tensions between global and local economic and cultural and public and private policy objectives that have been the result of these changes This book was originally published as a special issue of the International Journal of Cultural Policy

Japan's Effectiveness as a Geo-Economic Actor Yuka Koshino, Robert Ward, 2022-03-27 Geo economic strategy deploying economic instruments to secure foreign policy aims and to project power has long been a key element of statecraft In recent years it has acquired even greater salience given China's growing antagonism with the United States and the willingness of both Beijing and Washington to wield economic power in their confrontation This trend has particular significance for Japan given its often tense political relationship with China which remains its largest trading partner While Japan's post war geo economic performance often failed to match its status as one of the world's largest economies more recently Tokyo has demonstrated increased geo economic agency and effectiveness In this Adelphi book Yuka Koshino and Robert Ward draw on multiple disciplines including economics political economy foreign policy and security policy and interviews with key policymakers to examine Japan's geo economic power in the context of great power competition between the US and China They examine Japan's previous underperformance how Tokyo's understanding of geo economics has evolved and given constraints on its national power projection what actions Japan might feasibly take to become a more effective geo economic actor Their conclusions will be of direct interest not only for all those concerned with Japanese grand strategy and the Asia Pacific but also for those middle powers seeking to navigate great power competition in the coming decades
