Breaking Free From the Shame of Addiction Amanda Harms,2023-07-10 Do you feel trapped in a cycle of addiction and feelings of unworthiness The cage of shame prevents millions of lives from achieving their full spiritual potential The shame that stems from addiction can lead you into feeling unworthy of love or support Attempting to cope with that lack of connection often propels you back to your addiction which deepens the feelings of shame and accelerates the spiral It's time to break that cycle Whether your addiction involves drugs alcohol pornography gambling or any other vice you have the power to reclaim your life and accept the Lord's help to achieve your divine potential With nearly a decade of experience in the mental health field addiction counselor and Latter day Saint author Amanda Harms provides the skills and tools you need to help you break free from shame in your efforts to triumph over addiction These principles include a mix of clinically proven mental exercises and doctrinally supported methods for deepening your relationship with Christ Take that first step to dismantling shame today and trust that God stands with loving hands outstretched ready to guide you the rest of the way on your journey of change

Great Expectations David Dasari,Pushpa Dasari,2019-04-12 Have you ever wondered whether your marriage could have an impact beyond yourself and your immediate family This question became embedded in our minds after listening to a talk by Gary Thomas author of Sacred Marriage A Lifelong Love on a Christian radio channel where he asked listeners to ponder the question of whether God created marriage for our holiness rather than for our happiness The idea for this marriage programme was therefore birthed from pondering the question What if

Communicating with Our Families Jill K. Burk,Maryl R. McGinley,Joel S. Ward,2022-07-12 Communicating with Our Families Continuity Interruption and Transformation examines how communication technologies are shaping childhood parenthood and families by exploring topics such as parental loneliness family storytelling family technology rules mindful technology usage multigenerational communication and community The scholars in this volume work from a human communication perspective and use various research modes of inquiry including quantitative qualitative and interpretive methods Perhaps the most significant question implied by our contributors in this volume is whether the introduction of new communication technologies will fundamentally alter familial forms and if those new groupings that emerge will resemble what has been generally assumed for several millennia
